ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF CUSTOMS FOR THE FISCAL (CALENDAR) YEAR 1918.

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report covering customs transactions during the past year, including a review of the foreign commerce of the Philippine Islands and of other matters which appear to be of special interest.

GENERAL TRADE CONDITIONS.

The year 1918 was an exceptional year in the history of foreign commerce of the Philippine Islands. It gives evidence that the country has entered upon an era of unprecedented prosperity. Notwithstanding several conflicting factors which tended to diminish rather than augment the volume of trade, such as lack of transportation facilities, excessive freight rates and the prohibition placed on the exportation of a number of commodities, the total trade for the year far exceeds that of any previous year, and reflects in a direct manner the wonderful development that has taken place in the external commerce of the Islands.

The values of imports, exports and total trade for 1918 as compared with 1917 are as follows:

	1918	1917	Increase.
Imports	₱197,198,423	₱181,594,061	₱65,604,362
Exports	270,388,964	191,208,613	79,180,351
	467,587,387	322,802,674	144,784,713

It will be noted that notwithstanding the unusually heavy importations of rice and cotton and iron and steel manufactures, the year 1918 closed with a comfortable trade balance of ₱73,190,541 in favor of the Islands, and a huge increase in the total trade of ₱144,784,713 over 1917.

The year 1918 is characterized by a large increase recorded in the exports of coconut oil, both in quantity and in value, which amounted to slightly less than 200 per cent greater than those of the preceding year. This is suggestive of the rapid progress in the coconut oil industry of the Islands. Exports of coconut oil during the past year amounted to ₱63,328,317 as compared with ₱22,818,294 for the preceding year, and with ₱2,292,678 for 1913. Coincident with this increase in the exports of coconut oil, copra exports during 1918 decreased approximately 37 per cent as compared with copra exports during 1917, and it is fair to assume that in view of the increasing demand for copra locally, created by numerous oil mills that have recently been erected in Manila, copra exports will be materially reduced in the future if not completely cease.

The following table shows the value of imports and exports, total trade and trade balance for each year from 1899 to 1918:

Value of imports and exports, total trade, and trade balance for each year from 1899 to 1918.

1914	97,177,306	97,379,268	194,556,574	201,962
1915	98,624,367	107,626,008	206,250,375	9,001,641
1916	90,992,675	139,874,365	230,867,040	48,881,690
1917	131,594,061	191,208,613	322,802,674	59,614,552
1918	197,198,428	270,388,964	467,587,387	73,190,541

Since 1913 the external commerce of the Philippine Islands has undergone a transformation unparalleled in its history. From 1899 to the year 1915 the balance of trade was against the Islands to the amount of ₱37,691,183, but the changing volume of trade left at the close of 1916 a net balance in favor of the Philippines aggregating ₱11,260,507; and at the close of the past year this was pushed up to ₱144,065,600.

Among the principal exports which contributed much in gaining a huge trade balance in favor of the Islands in 1918 foreign commerce, as shown on the above table, are hemp, coconut oil, sugar and tobacco products. Exports of hemp during the year amounted in value to ₱116,383,100 as compared with ₱93,615,559 in 1917, or an increase of ₱22,767,541. This increase is due to higher prices commanded by this staple in foreign markets rather than to an increase in the quantity exported, as the quantity exported during 1918 is slightly less than that exported during 1917. Exports of coconut oil during the past year totaled ₱63,328,317 in value, those of sugar ₱31,608,780, and those of tobacco products ₱27,150,626 as compared with ₱22,818,294, ₱24,555,357 and ₱14,301,081, respectively, during 1917. It will be noted from the above figures that in these four items alone an increase of ₱83,180,532 over the exports of 1917 is recorded.

While exports for 1918 show a handsome increase over those of 1917, imports likewise show a comparatively large increase over those of 1917. Imports during the year under review totaled ₱197,198,423 as against ₱131,594,061 during 1917, recording an increase of ₱65,604,362. The principal imports during the year according to their importance are cotton goods, iron and steel and rice. Imports of cotton and its manufactures amounted to ₱58,016,844, those of iron and steel to ₱24,507,970, and those of rice to ₱16,433,585, as compared with ₱37,574,005, ₱11,855,125 and ₱10,781,463, respectively, during 1917, or a net gain in these three items alone of ₱38,747,806.

FOREIGN CARRYING TRADE.

A total of 652 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 1,412,871 tons entered the Philippine Islands from foreign ports during the year 1918, while vessels to the number of 659, representing a total net tonnage of 1,544,648 tons were cleared for foreign ports. Compared with the previous year this is an increase in total entrances and clearances of 11 vessels, or 46,427 tons.

The following table shows the entrances and clearances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, by flags, during the years 1916 to 1918:

The following statement shows the value of imported and exported merchandise carried under each of the principal flags during the past two years. These figures show increases for all flags, with the exception of the Dutch vessels which show a considerable decrease. American vessels show the highest proportionate increase, Philippine vessels second, and Japanese vessels third. It will be noted that in 1917, as well as in previous years, British vessels furnished space for the largest portion of our external trade, but in 1918 she was surpassed by American vessels and pushed down to second place on the list. It will also be noted that in 1917 no Chinese, Danish, French or Swedish vessels participated in carrying our imports or exports, but in 1918 they all show considerable participation.

The commercial relations of the Philippine Islands with other countries since the outbreak of the war has undergone notable changes. Trade with the United States during the past year both in imports and exports, has increased tremendously as compared with previous years and is the highest on record. Imports show an increase of P42,407,927 and exports P51,825,120 over those recorded in 1917. The war situation has heavily checked importations from the United Kingdom though the general level of exports to that country has risen. Trade with France has declined pronouncedly, while trade with Japan, China, French East Indies, Australasia and Spain has increased materially. Summarily, America's share of the importations into the Philippine Islands amounted to over four times that of Japan, but the Mikado's land ranked second on the list of countries furnishing our imports, with the United Kingdom pushed down to fifth place. In exports United Kingdom follows the United States and Japan is third, pressing upon British trade.

IMPORTS.

The year just closed has been one of unprecedented activity in the import trade. The total value of imports for the year 1917 was almost 50 per cent over that of 1916, but compared with the total value reached in 1918 it appears insignificant.

Imports during the past year totaled ₱197,198,423 as compared with ₱131,594,061 in 1917, or an increase of almost 50 per cent.

This remarkable increase in imports during the past two years gives evidence of the continued development of our home market for foreign products and the increased purchasing power of the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands. The principal items which contributed to this increase in the order of their importance were: cotton goods, iron and steel manufactures, rice, fish and fish products, automobiles and wheat flour. Great increases are also noted in the importations of silk goods, chemicals, drugs, dyes, and medicine, meat products, books and other printed matter, coal and leather manufactures. Insignificant decreases, however, were registered in several items such as dairy products, soap, cattle and paper and manufactures thereof.

As in the preceding year, United States ranked first among the countries furnishing our imports during 1918; Japan, second; French East Indies, third; China, fourth; and Australasia, fifth. Imports from these countries show astounding increases over those of 1917. United States registered an increase of 56 per cent; Japan 59 per cent; French East Indies 33 per cent; China, 54 per cent; and Australasia, over 100 per cent. Slight increases are also noted in the importations from British East Indies, France, Siam and Switzerland. Imports from United Kingdom, Hongkong, Spain, Dutch East Indies, and Italy show considerable decreases, while imports from the central countries of Europe ceased altogether.

COTTON AND ITS MANUFACTURES.

In general the prices of cotton goods prevailing in 1918 were approximately 50 per cent higher than the prices that prevailed in 1917, but notwithstanding this drawback cotton imports during the year exceeded those of previous years both in quantity and in total value. The total value of cotton importations in 1918, which constitutes more than one fourth of the total imports, reached ₱58,016,844, as against ₱37,574,005 in 1917 and ₱18,649,772 in 1916. Imports from the United States, Japan and China show material increases. The total value of imports from the United Kingdom increased considerably in comparison with the total value reached in 1917, but it is still much below pre-war imports. Imports from France, Italy, Netherlands and Spain show a substantial decline, while imports from the central countries of Europe have completely ceased.

In 1913 the United Kingdom was second to the United States among the countries furnishing our imports of cotton goods, but since 1915 the year immediately following the outbreak of the war in Europe she has failed to maintain that position and was supplanted by Japan in the second place, leaving her in the third place.

The following tables show the values of imports of cotton and its manufactures, by the principal countries of origin and by principal classes of goods, for the past four years:

IRON AND STEEL.

Imports of iron and steel and manufactures thereof during the year amounted in value to P24,507,970, as compared with P11,855,125 in 1917, or an increase of over 100 per cent. The prices of iron and steel products rose tremendously during 1918, as a result of the increased freight rates and the great difficulty experienced in the United States in securing shipping space for iron and steel cargoes and while the quantity imported increased considerably as compared with 1917 imports, the high total value reached in 1918 is largely due to higher prices. Approximately 92 per cent of the total importations of these commodities came from the United States, and 5 per cent from Japan. Imports from Japan show an increase of ¥597,215 over those of 1917, while imports from China likewise show a notable increase. Imports from the United Kingdom have suffered a gradual decline since the outbreak of the war. Imports from that country in 1913 amounted to ¥2,279,244 as compared with only ¥215,090 in 1918 and dropped to third place on the list, being supplanted by Japan in the second place.

The following tables show the values of iron and steel imports by the principal countries of origin, and by the principal classes of the group, for the years 1918, 1917, 1916, and 1915:

RICE.

Rice imports during the year which represent 8.33 per cent of the total imports show a substantial increase over those of the previous year both in the quantity imported and the total value. The average value per 100 kilos amounted to ₦8.94 as compared with ₦7.33 in 1917 and ₦6.87 in 1916. French East Indies again heads the list of countries furnishing our rice imports, of which approximately 84 per cent came from that country. Siam ranked second and contributed 14 per cent, which is equivalent to ₦2,305,333 in value, as compared with only ₦696,722 in 1917, and British East Indies third with a contribution of ₦397,118 as against ₦228 in 1917.

The following table shows in respect to importations of rice, the quantity, value, average value per 100 kilos, and percentage of total imports for the years 1899 to 1918:

OTHER IMPORTS.

Automobiles.—Importations of automobiles and parts thereof, including tires, amounted to ₦6,525,665 as against ₦3,080,801 in 1917, showing the highest proportionate increase except in the case of fish and fish products. Automobiles to the number of 1,911 were imported during the past year as compared with 1,237 in 1917 and 986 in 1916. This, though in an indirect manner, reflects the prosperity enjoyed by the inhabitants of the Islands.

Silk and its manufactures.—The value of importations of silk and manufactures thereof totaled ₦5,727,024, as compared with ₦3,961,187 in 1917, and is the highest on record in the history of the Islands.

Food products.—The total value of food products other than rice and cattle imported during the year amounted to ₦25,627,985 as compared with ₦17,608,865 in 1917. With the exception of rice, wheat flour was the food product of greatest value imported during the year, the total value thereof amounting to ₦6,033,528 as against ₦3,831,050 in 1917. Australasia furnished approximately 88 per cent of the total imports of wheat flour, amounting to ₦5,526,666 in value, which constitute almost 75 per cent of the total import trade with that country. Imports of this commodity from Australasia in 1917 amounted to ₦2,425,003 only. Importations of fish and fish products show the highest proportionate increase, which amounted to ₦5,212,350 as compared with ₦1,855,736 in 1917. Considerable increases are also noted in the importations of breadstuffs other than flour, cocoa, eggs, fruits and nuts, meat products and vegetables, while slight decreases are noted in the importations of coffee, dairy products and sugar in comparison with 1917 importations.

Leather goods.—Leather and manufactures thereof amounting to ₦4,171,064 were imported in 1918 as compared with ₦3,247,817 in 1917.

Vegetable fibers and manufactures thereof.—Importations of commodities of this class amounted to ₦4,724,325 as against ₦3,071,808 in 1917 and ₦1,241,175 in 1916.

Coal.—The total value of coal importations for 1918, amounted to ₦4,662,349 as against ₦3,076,470 in 1917. The increase shown is wholly due to higher prices that prevailed during the year as the quantity imported is considerably less than in 1917. Japan is the principal source of our coal supply, approximately 68 per cent of the total coal importations amounting in value to ₦3,158,052, having come from that country as compared with ₦2,359,838 in 1917. China ranked second with a contribution amounting to ₦845,119 as compared with ₦292,457 in 1917, and British East Indies third, which furnished coal imports valued at ₦222,172 as against ₦109,259 in 1917.

EXPORTS.

The total exports during the past year aggregated ₦270,388,964 in value, as compared with ₦191,208,613 in 1917, or an increase of 41 per cent. This increase is due both to an increase in the amounts of the various commodities exported, as well as to higher prices received for same. Exports to the United States during 1918 show an increase of approximately 41 per cent over those of 1917 and those to the United Kingdom, 89 per cent. Considerable increases are also shown in the exportations to Japan, Spain, China, British East Indies, and French East Indies, while slight declines are shown in the exportation to France, Hongkong and Australasia. The principal articles of export during the year, according to their importance, were hemp, coconut oil, sugar, tobacco products and copra. As usual, hemp again heads the list of principal exports. Sugar, which occupied second place in 1917, falls down to third place this year, having been succeeded by coconut oil in the second place, and copra which ranked fourth last year was pushed down to fifth place, having been supplanted by tobacco products in the fourth place.

The following table shows the relative values of principal Philippine products exported during 1918, as compared with 1917 exports:

HEMP.

The total quantity of hemp exported during the year show a slight decline in comparison with the quantity exported during 1917, but as will be noted in the foregoing table, hemp exportations in 1918 are much greater in value than those of 1917. This indicates that exceptionally high prices were obtained for this product in foreign markets. Hemp exports valued at ₱65,468,402, which is 56 per cent of the total exports of this commodity during the year, went to the United States, as against ₱59,291,095 exported during 1917—an increase of ₱6,177,307. The most remarkable increase is shown in the exports to the United Kingdom. Hemp exports to that country reached ₱37,288,369 in value, as compared with only ₱18,980,263 in 1917, or an increase of almost 100 per cent. The average value per 1,000 kilos of hemp during 1918 amounted to ₱687.60, which is the highest on record.

The following table shows the quantity and value of hemp exports to all countries and to the United States for the years 1899 to 1918:

COCONUT OIL.

Coconut oil is rapidly taking precedence over copra as an article of export. Exports of this commodity during the past year has shown such a tremendous increase that it is fair to assume that the coconut oil industry is a permanent institution in the Islands and will increase in importance with each succeeding year. Exports during 1918 amounted to ₱63,328,317, as compared with ₱22,818,294 in 1917 and ₱7,851,469 in 1916. The United States is practically the sole importer of this commodity in 1918, 98 per cent of the total exports having gone to that country, and 2 per cent to Canada and Guam. This is due in a large measure to the prohibition placed by the War Trade Board on the exportation of coconut oil to foreign countries, which has since been abolished.

SUGAR.

The total value of sugar exports during 1918 amounted to ₱31,608,780, as compared with ₱24,555,357 in 1917, and with the exception of the year 1916 is the highest on record.

In view of the higher prices commanded by other Philippine products both in the United States and in foreign markets, it is surprising to note that the average price of sugar exported in 1918, which amounted to ₱115.67 per 1,000 kilos, is below the average price for the year 1917. As usual, the principal markets for our sugar, according to their importance, are the United States, Hongkong, China, and Japan. Sugar amounting in value to ₱16,559,780, which is slightly over 52 per cent of the total sugar exports, went to the United States, while sugar valued at ₱6,631,536 was exported to Hongkong, ₱4,979,941 to China and ₱3,320,735 to Japan.

The quantities and values of sugar exports to all countries and to the United States for the years 1899 to 1918 are as follows:

TOBACCO PRODUCTS.

Exports of tobacco products during 1918 have shown a very remarkable increase over those of 1917. The amount exported during the past year aggregated ₱27,150,626 in value, as compared with ₱14,301,081 in 1917, or an increase of nearly 90 per cent. The greatest increase is shown in cigars, the amount exported and the value realized therefrom being the highest on record. Cigars to the number of 359,664,827, valued at ₱14,233,437, were exported during the year, of which approximately 80 per cent went to the United States. The average value per 1,000 cigars obtained in 1918 is considerably higher than the average value obtained in 1917, and is the highest in the history of the Philippine Islands.

The following table shows the total number and values of cigars exported to all countries and to the United States during the years 1899 to 1918:

COPRA.

Copra exports have shown a marked decline and it is believed that in view of the rapid development that has taken place in the local coconut oil industry, copra will gradually lose its importance as an article of export. Exports during the past year amounted to ₱10,377,029 in value, as against ₱16,654,301 in 1917.

With the exception of a small shipment of copra samples to Japan, valued at ₱18, no shipment is recorded to any foreign country. All went to the United States. This is due to the embargo placed on the exportation of copra to foreign ports which has since been rescinded.

The following table shows the quantities and values of copra exports to all countries and to the United States for the years 1899 to 1918:

EMBROIDERIES.

Exports of embroideries have shown a tendency to increase with each succeeding year since the outbreak of the war. This is probably due in a large measure to the inability of the European countries to supply the demands of the United States for this product owing to the conditions created by the war, which have practically paralyzed the activities in the manufacture of articles destined for export. The unusually great quantities of embroideries exported to the United States during the past three years seem to indicate that Philippine embroideries have attained a position in the United States markets and it is fair to assume that they will continue to develop in the future, notwithstanding a possible resumption of the manufacture and export of embroideries from Europe, incident to the establishment of peace. The value of embroideries exported during the past year aggregated P4,361,352, almost all of which went to the United States, as compared with P3,929,318 in 1917, P2,328,024 in 1916, and P735,303 in 1915.

ORE AND BULLION.

The total amount of gold bullion exported was 65,918 ounces, valued at ₱1,873,938, as against 88,658 ounces valued at ₱2,677,284 exported in 1917, showing a considerable decrease in the quantity and total value exported, and a slight decrease in the average value per ounce. Silver ore, valued at ₱28,000, was exported during the year, all of which went to the United States.

The following table shows the value of exports of gold and silver in ore and bullion for the years 1909 to 1918:

FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS.

Notwithstanding the loss to the revenue of nearly ₱800,000 resulting from the suspension of duty on rice during the period from October 7th to December 31st, 1918, customs collections for the past year show an unusually large increase over those of the preceding year which is accounted for by increased importations in general.

The following table shows the total collections of the Bureau of Customs, by sources, for the year 1918, as compared with the year 1917:

It is gratifying to note that collections from all sources with the exception of Auction Sales, show significant increases.

Besides the total collections shown in the forgoing table, internal revenue taxes to the amount of ₱2,144,564.31 were collected by this Bureau in pursuance of the provisions of Act No. 2342, as amended by Act No. 2445. The amount collected in 1917 was ₱2,283,738.35.

The number of employees separated on account of retirement, resignation or other causes amounted to 107, while 101 employees were employed during the year.

The large increase in the import and export trade of the Philippine Islands, which has been commented upon in the foregoing pages, has brought with it a corresponding increase in the volume of work devolving upon Customs employees, and in order to save the Bureau from a possible handicap on account of lack of personnel an effort was made during the year to fill all the vacant positions.

INSPECTION OF VESSELS.

As shown in the following table a total of 269 vessels, with an aggregate net tonnage of 44,024.40 were inspected by the hull and boiler inspectors of this Bureau, in accordance with the requirements of navigation and the steamboat inspection service. The number of vessels inspected in 1917 was 248, having a total net tonnage of 34,118.64.

According to reports received in this Office, 76 vessels were wrecked or lost at sea during the past year, and 19 vessels were placed out of commission. Admeasurements were made of 76 vessels.

MARINE OFFICERS.

The Board of Marine Examiners examined 251 applicants for certificates of various grades, of which number 231 passed and 20 failed. The total number of marine officers holding unexpired certificates at the end of the year was 1,750, while 620 expired certificates are outstanding.

DOCUMENTATION AND LICENSING OF VESSELS.

During the year under review 42 steam vessels with a total net tonnage of 7,049, and 300 sailing vessels with a total net tonnage of 6,743 were newly documented in the coastwise trade, as compared with 16 steam vessels with a net tonnage of 2,673 and 411 sailing vessels with a net tonnage of 6,208 documented in 1917. In the bay and river business 229 vessels with a net tonnage of 4,541 were newly documented in 1918 as compared with 109 vessels with a net tonnage of 1,481 in 1917.

Coastwise licenses were issued during the year to 151 steam vessels having a net tonnage of 28,464.84, and 711 sailing vessels with a total net tonnage of 27,570.10. Bay and river licenses were issued to 1,580 vessels having a total net tonnage of 35,672.27. The number of vessels in commission during the year, therefore, amounted to 2,442, with a total net tonnage of 91,707.21.

IMMIGRATION AND EMIGRATION.

The total number of passengers arriving in the Philippine Islands during the past year was 21,668, as compared with 19,635 in 1917, and the total number departing was 17,710 as compared with 16,293 in 1917, not including enlisted men and others attached to the military or naval forces of the United States traveling as such. Of the total number of inward bound passengers, 8,866 were immigrants, 7,622 being males and 1,244 females, while of the total number of departing passengers 885 were emigrants showing a net gain to the Islands of 7,891 in so far as actual settlers are concerned. The figures for the past year show a decided increase in the number of inward bound passengers over those of 1917. This increase is accounted for by a relatively large increase in the number of Chinese immigrants coming to the Philippine Islands and seeking admission during the year which may be attributed to the disturbed conditions that prevailed in China during the year caused by the internal wars that were going on between the different factions of the population. Chinese immigrants to the number of 4,999 were admitted during the year as compared with 3,094 admitted in 1917, or an increase of 61 per cent. During the year citizens of the United States to the number of 2,052 arrived and 3,011 departed, and citizens of the Philippine Islands to the number of 3,438 arrived and 3,967 departed. As usual, the Chinese again head the list of aliens arriving at, and departing from, Philippine ports during the year. The total number of Chinese admitted was 10,376, of whom 4,999 were immigrant aliens and 5,377 were returning residents. Japanese immigration shows a slight increase, the total number admitted being 3,965, of whom 3,559 were immigrant aliens and 406 were returning residents. Japanese to the number of 1,561 departed during the year. Spanish subjects to the number of 143 were admitted, of whom 67 were immigrant aliens and 76 were returning residents, while a total of 129 Spanish persons departed.

A total of 347 immigrants were debarred from admission during the year and 72 aliens were deported from the Islands under the various provisions of the Immigration and Opium laws.

SECRET SERVICE.

During the past year the secret service force of this Bureau has been ably directed. Numerous arrests were made for attempted violations of customs, immigration and opium laws, large quantities of contraband merchandise were seized and many attempts to evade the revenue laws were frustrated. A total of 332 cases were handled, of which number convictions were secured in 217 cases, 55 cases were dismissed and 60 cases were still pending final action at the close of the year. The fines imposed in such cases amounted to ₱33,660. Opium amounting to 547 kilograms, with an approximate value of ₱1,094,204, was seized and confiscated during the past year.

ARRASTRE PLANT.

Owing to an unusual increase in importations during 1918 as compared with those of previous years, the work of the arrastre plant has correspondingly increased. The total cargo handled during the year amounted to 324,660 tons, as against 281,653 tons in 1917, and 215,218 tons in 1916.

The following statement shows the amount of work performed by the Arrastre Plant and Government Piers, cost of operation, receipts, etc., during the year 1918:

Work performed.

Expenditures.....	270,869.53	177,800.59
Surplus.....	32,953.45	65,242.87

It will be noted that the expenditures for the year 1918 is considerably greater than those of 1917. This is due mainly to higher cost of labor that prevailed during the year and the necessity of increasing the personnel brought about by increased trade.

Due to inadequacy of pier facilities to accomodate the steadily increasing trade of the Islands and the congested condition that prevailed on Government piers most of the time, great difficulties were experienced in the handling of cargo and especially in locating merchandise, which has led considerable delay in effecting delivery and has, at times, been cause for complaint on the part of importers. It is believed, however, that this unfortunate situation will be relieved to a certain extent upon completion of the bulkhead between Piers 3 and 5 now under construction. Money has already been appropriated for the erection of another pier to be known as Pier No. 7, which will be equipped with the most modern devices and equipment for rapid discharging and loading of cargo. It is understood that the Bureau of Public Works is at present working on the designs for this proposed pier, which will be larger in size than Pier No. 5, and that work thereon will be started in the near future. Upon completion of this additional pier it is confidently believed that conditions will be better and all causes for legitimate complaints will be overcome.

PROTESTS AND APPEALS.

During the year 195 protests involving the correctness of the decision of customs officers as to the classification or value of imported merchandise or the collection of certain Customs charges were presented to the Insular Collector of Customs by virtue of the provisions of section 1370 of the Administrative Code. Of this number 32 were sustained and 58 were overruled and denied, and 105 were pending action at the close of the year. Of the number overruled 6 were taken to the Court of First Instance on appeal, in 3 of which cases the decision of the Insular Collector of Customs was sustained by the court, while the other 3 cases were pending action at the close of the year.

CONSULAR DUTIES.

The consular work with which the Insular Collector of Customs is charged under the provisions of section 84 of the Act of Congress of July 1, 1902, involved the shipment during the year on American vessels, including Army transports, of 1,315 seamen, of which number 205 were Americans and 1,110 were Filipinos. The total number of seamen discharged was 1,265, of which number 309 were Americans and 956 were Filipinos. Forty destitute American seamen were cared for and provided board and lodging and 61 such persons were furnished transportation to the United States at the expense of the United States Government.

One hundred forty-eight consular invoices and one hundred five invoices of returned American goods were issued during the year.

SUPPORTS.

CEBU.

As was the case in 1917, Cebu again ranked second to Manila in respect to the volume of foreign commerce last year. From the year 1911 to 1917 Iloilo enjoyed the distinction of being second to Manila in importance in respect to the size of her external commerce, but due to failure of the sugar crop which is the chief article of export of this port, and lack of transportation facilities to market same, she was pushed down to third place, having been supplanted by Cebu in the second place.

The total trade at this port during the past year amounted to ₱36,202,936, as compared with ₱35,270,779 during 1917, showing a slight increase. Imports aggregated ₱11,484,577 in value, while exports amounted to ₱24,718,359, recording a handsome favorable trade balance of ₱13,233,728. The principal articles imported into this port, according to their importance, are rice, cotton goods, iron and steel products and leather goods. Rice, valued at ₱7,594,685, which constitutes nearly one-half of all the rice imported into the Philippine Islands during 1918 was imported into this port, as compared with ₱4,538,617 imported during the previous year. Importations of cotton goods, iron and steel products and leather goods amounted to ₱1,054,367, ₱544,284 and ₱299,996, respectively, all of which show considerable increases over importations of the same commodities in 1917.

Exportations of hemp, which is the chief article of export at this port, have declined from ₱12,955,731 in 1917 to ₱8,569,446 in 1918. Copra exports amounted to ₱2,262,257, as against ₱5,869,117 in 1917, and maguey to ₱1,151,862, an increase of ₱306,251 over the previous year.

Eighty-one vessels of different nationalities, with an aggregate net tonnage of 89,320 tons, entered the port of Cebu during 1918, direct from foreign ports, as compared with 70 entrances, with a total net tonnage of 82,692 tons, in 1917, while 65 vessels, having a total net tonnage of 114,687 tons, were cleared for foreign ports as against 58 vessels, with a total net tonnage of 89,680 tons cleared during 1917. In the coastwise trade, entrances of 5,609 coastwise vessels, tonnage 301,318 and 5,627 clearances, tonnage 309,076, are recorded this year, as compared with 5,013 entrances, tonnage 288,219, and 5,093 clearances, tonnage 293,365, recorded in 1917.

The total collections at this port during 1918 amounted to ₱3,207,846.15, as compared with ₱1,879,810.98 in 1917, or an increase of ₱328,035.17. This increase would have been much greater but for the suspension of import duties on rice for the period from October 7th to December 31st, 1918, which caused a loss to the Government in customs duty on rice importations into this port alone of ₱420,942.44, which otherwise would have been collected.

ILOILO.

The volume of foreign commerce at this port during the past year amounted to ₱20,368,992, as against ₱14,018,491 in 1917, recording an increase of ₱6,350,501 or about 45 per cent. Imports amounted to ₱4,349,937 and exports to ₱16,019,055. The principal imports into this port consisted of rice, value ₱1,408,816, cotton goods, ₱1,322,237, illuminating oils, ₱221,352 and iron and steel products, ₱132,458. The chief article of export is sugar, the value exported during the year amounting to ₱15,160,610, as compared with ₱8,765,559 in 1917.

Entrances of 22 vessels in the foreign trade, with a total net tonnage of 27,959, and 56 clearances, tonnage 69,041, are recorded for the past year, as compared with 24 entrances, tonnage 20,542, and 37 clearances, tonnage 48,704, recorded in 1917. In the coastwise trade, there were 4,723 entrances, having a total net tonnage of 287,197, and 4,744 clearances, with an aggregate net tonnage of 289,957, as compared with 5,216 entrances, tonnage 343,730, and 5,280 clearances, tonnage 344,488, recorded in 1917.

The total collections at this port during 1918, which amounted to ₱907,228.28, show a slight decline as compared with ₱919,991.89, the amount collected in 1917. This decline is accounted for by the suspension of import duty on rice from October 7th to December 31st, 1918.

JOLO.

The total value of foreign commerce at this port during the year was ₱1,398,117, of which amount ₱1,057,605 represents imports and ₱340,512 exports. This shows that the import trade at this port has slightly increased while the export trade has almost doubled. Entrances of vessels in the foreign trade totaled 26, representing a total net tonnage of 10,042, as compared with 27 entrances, with a net tonnage of 11,894, in 1917. Clearances numbered 26, tonnage 10,152 as against 25 clearances, tonnage 11,605, in 1917. In the coastwise trade there were 120 entrances, with an aggregate tonnage of 25,312, and 118 clearances, having a total tonnage of 25,154. In 1917 there were 107 entrances, tonnage 37,105, and the same number of clearances. The total collections at this port during the year was ₱202,782.22, or a reduction of ₱21,346.18 as compared with 1917 collections.

ZAMBOANGA.

The total trade at this port during the year amounted to ₱1,837,592, and show a considerable increase over that recorded in 1917, which was ₱1,464,193. Imports amounted to ₱1,354,051 and exports to ₱483,541, as compared with imports valued at ₱966,006 and exports ₱498,187 recorded in 1917. Copra was the principal article of export, representing over one-half of the value of all exports. Entrances of vessels from foreign ports numbered 44 and clearances, 35, as compared with 24 entrances and 21 clearances recorded during the previous year. Coastwise vessels to the number of 804 entered and 827 cleared.

BALABAC.

The total value of foreign trade at this port during the year was ₱21,588, of which amount ₱12,347 represented the value of imports and ₱9,241 that of exports. During the year 1917, the total trade amounted to only ₱16,380. Only one vessel entered in the foreign trade, while no clearance was recorded. In the coastwise trade there were 7 entrances and the same number of clearances.

APARRI.

Aparri is not a port of entry, but the record of entrances and clearances of vessels engaged in the coastwise trade indicates that it is an important center of interisland trade. Coastwise vessels to the number of 425 entered the port during the year, while 446 vessels cleared. In the inland trade of the port, 1,615 arrivals and 1,780 departures of river vessels were recorded.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is respectfully recommended that an early provision be secured for the erection of a modern customs building on lot number 57 in the port district in accordance with plans and specifications previously approved. The present customs building, besides being too old and antiquated, is not of sufficient size to accommodate the increasing number of employees of this Bureau coincident with the steadily increasing trade of the Islands.

It is also recommended that an immigration detention station be erected in the port district at the site previously agreed upon.

Respectfully submitted.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF CUSTOMS FOR THE FISCAL (CALENDAR) YEAR 1919.

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the Annual Report of the Bureau of Customs, containing a compilation of the returns of commerce, navigation, immigration, and emigration of the Islands for the preceding year, together with a brief review of the trade with foreign countries compared with previous years.

GENERAL TRADE CONDITIONS.

The year 1919 closed with a balance of trade against the Islands amounting to ₧11,042,452. This is the first year since 1913 that the country lost money in its foreign commerce, although the loss was not over those reported for the years 1901, 1910, 1912, and 1913. Yet the country may be considered as enjoying an enviable commercial prosperity compared with previous years, the total trade for the year under review being ₧463,513,756, which is only ₧4,073,631 less than that for the year 1918, but far in excess of that for any previous years.

The following table shows the value of imports and exports, total trade, and trade balance for each year since 1899:

Year ended Dec. 31—	Imports.	Exports.	Total trade.	Balance of trade.

1918.....	107,198,423	270,388,964	487,587,387	73,199,541
1919.....	237,278,104	226,235,652	463,513,756		11,042,452

Although the year 1919 recorded a balance of trade against the islands, from the above it will be seen that the country has not been losing in its commercial race, the total trade balance in its favor since 1899 up to 1919, inclusive, being ₱229,974,936, as compared with ₱96,951,806 recorded against it, thus showing a net gain of ₱133,023,130.

The factors that contributed to the unfavorable trade balance for the year 1919 are the heavy importations and the decrease in exports recorded during the year, the former amounting to ₱237,278,104 and the latter to ₱226,235,652, as against ₱197,198,423 and ₱270,338,964, respectively, during the year 1918.

The principal articles the importations of which showed an unparalleled increase over those of the previous years are iron and steel and its manufactures, mineral oil, meat and dairy products, automobiles, automobile parts, and automobile tires, wheat flour, coal, paper and manufactures of paper, leather and manufactures of leather, and other articles. Copra is also one of the salient items among the importations of the Islands, as may be seen in the discussion of this article's importation elsewhere in this report.

The total exports, on the other hand, showed a decrease compared with those of the previous year, the total value of same being ₱226,235,652, as compared with ₱270,388,964 for 1918, or a decrease of ₱44,153,312. The value of hemp exported largely accounted for this immense decrease, the average value per thousand kilos of which being ₱442.92, as compared with ₱687.60 for the previous year. Hemp exports are considered one of the most important factors responsible for the unfavorable trade balance pointed out above. Philippine copra also shares with the responsibility in common with the others already mentioned, the quantity and value of the exports of this commodity during 1919 being smaller than those of 1918, due generally to the increased demand of this article for use in the local oil mills, as stated in the previous report. The exports are separately discussed elsewhere in this report.

The following table shows the values of imports, exports, and total trade according to countries of origin and destination, for the years 1918 and 1919:

As in the year 1918, the United States furnished in the year under consideration the greatest proportion of our imports and consumed most of our exports. Imports from that country showed an increase of ₱33,333,607 while exports to same showed an unprecedented decrease of ₱64,988,453 compared with those of the previous year. Trade with Japan showed a decrease of ₱4,859,834 due principally to reduced imports and exports. This notwithstanding, Japan stood second to the United States in furnishing our imports during the year, and also second on the list in respect to the trade relations of the Islands with foreign countries. Trade with the United Kingdom showed a reduction of ₱7,380,961 due to reduced imports and exports. This country, which in 1918 was second to the United States on the list of countries trading with the Islands, was overcome by Japan in this respect during the year under review, although from the list it will be seen that the former was second to the United States in the consumption of our exports. Trade with China has increased ₱2,232,369 both in imports and exports, this country standing fourth on the list of countries of importance trading with the Islands. Trade with the European countries showed during the year an enormous increase over that of the previous year, with the exception of Italy, Austria-Hungary, and Sweden, all of which showed a slight decrease. The increase in the trade with European countries is largely due to relaxation of export restrictions and trading therewith announced by the War Trade Board shortly after the armistice. Trade with other countries showed an increase, with the exception of the French East Indies, Siam, and Canada, which showed a decrease.

FOREIGN CARRYING TRADE.

The number of vessels engaged in the foreign trade calling at Philippine ports of entry during 1919 is greater than that of the last three years. A total of 740 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 1,711,981 entered from foreign ports, as compared with 652 in 1918, 652 in 1917, and 705 in 1916, with an aggregate net tonnage of 1,412,871, 1,456,163, and 1,559,346, respectively. The number cleared for foreign ports during the year is 719, with an aggregate net tonnage of 1,705,869. This is less than the number entered, due to some of the latter having been registered for the coastwise trade.

The following table shows the entrances and clearances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, by flags, during the years 1916 to 1919:

As was the case in 1918, in the year under review American vessels carried the greatest proportion of the Philippine trade, to say nothing of the fact that the trade carried by these vessels exceeded that carried by them during the previous year. British vessels ranked next in furnishing space to our external commerce, likewise recording an increase over that for the year 1918. Japanese vessels occupied the third place in the carrying trade, further going on record as marking a decrease in their carrying capacity compared with their record of the previous year. Philippine vessels are in the fourth place on the list, making a slight progress in the trade by carrying more than one million pesos' worth of our foreign trade over that reported for 1918. It is gratifying to note that the volume of foreign trade carried by Philippine vessels has been increasing since 1916, notwithstanding the fact that there are but few vessels of Philippine registry engaged in the foreign trade. If the Philippine fleet was expanded by the participation of more Filipino shipowners in the foreign trade, or at least by so amending the law as to permit corporations or companies created under the laws of the Philippine Islands to acquire Philippine vessels destined for the trade with foreign countries, it would be safe to assume that Philippine vessels would rank first or second in respect to the volume of our foreign commerce transported to and from other countries.

IMPORTS.

The year under review has been one of unprecedented activity in the import trade. The total value of the imports for the year was ₱237,278,104, which is ₱40,079,681 over that of the previous year, or an increase of 20.3 per cent, and is the largest on record in the history of the Islands' importations. The principal products concerned in the increase are iron and steel and manufactures of same, mineral oil, meat and dairy products, automobile and parts thereof, wheat flour, coal, paper and manufactures of paper, leather and manufactures of leather, and other articles; while the importations of cotton and manufactures of cotton, as well as rice, showed a considerable decline. The following table shows ten principal imports of the year compared with importations of the same articles the previous year:

COTTON AND ITS MANUFACTURES.

The value of cotton and its manufactures imported during 1919 was approximately two-thirds of that of the previous year. Of the total cotton importations the United States furnished 72.28 per cent, or about 70 per cent of that of the year 1918. Cotton imports from Japan ranked next, being 15.90 per cent of the total importation of this article. This country also recorded a decrease in its exportation of this commodity to the Islands, compared with that of the previous year. The United Kingdom maintained in 1919 its third place among the countries supplying the Islands with cotton goods, likewise recording a decrease in its exportation of this commodity to the Philippines, compared with the previous year. Imports from Switzerland and the British East Indies showed a substantial decline, while France, Italy, Netherlands, and Spain were the only countries that made a prosperous showing in their cotton goods business, imports therefrom denoting a material increase during the year compared with those of the previous year. The total value of cotton imports for the year amounted to P38,644,173, as against P58,016,844 for the year 1918.

The following tables show the values of imports of cotton and manufactures thereof, by the principal countries of origin, and by principal classes of goods, for the past four years:

IRON AND STEEL.

The value of imports of iron and steel for the year 1919 reached the amount of ₹44,735,174, as against ₹24,507,970 for the year 1918, or an increase of 82.5 per cent. About 86 per cent of the total importation of this product were furnished by the United States, as compared with 92 per cent the previous year. The value of imports of this class from Japan showed a decrease of ₹330,067 compared with that of the previous year, and constituted 2 per cent of the importations of this class during the year. The table below shows that importations of this commodity from Germany increased enormously from ₹11,139 in 1918 to ₹333,132 in 1919. This was due to the fact that the cargo of the German vessels which were seized at the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Germany was cleared for consumption during the year. Imports from the United Kingdom this year showed a slight increase over those of the previous year. It will be noticed that iron and steel imports from this country continued to decline yearly since 1914, from ₹1,573,066 in that year to ₹215,090 in 1918, but in the year under review the value increased slightly to ₹308,783. Imports from China, which in 1918 showed a notable increase over those of 1917, this year declined considerably, the value being only approximately 50 per cent of that in 1918. Imports from France, Spain, Norway, and Dutch East Indies showed substantial increases, while those from Australasia showed a notable decrease. Iron and steel imports constituted 19 per cent of the total value of all imports for the year 1919.

The following tables show the values of iron and steel imports by principal countries of origin, and by principal classes of the group, for the years 1919, 1918, 1917, and 1916:

RICE.

Rice importations during the year, which represented 4 per cent of the total imports of the Islands, and which declined yearly since 1915 up to 1918, showed a decrease of over 70 per cent in quantity, and approximately 46 per cent in value, of those of the previous year. The average value per 100 kilos was ₱17.35, as compared with ₱8.94 in 1918 and ₱7.33 in 1917. As usual, the French East Indies and Siam were the principal sources of our rice imports during the year.

The following table shows, in respect to the importations of rice, the quantity, value, average value per 100 kilos, and percentage of total imports for the years 1899 to 1919:

FOOD PRODUCTS.

The value of food products imported during the year, not including rice and cattle, amounted to ₱32,786,200, as compared with ₱25,627,985 in 1918 and ₱17,608,865 in 1917. These consisted of breadstuffs, including wheat flour, cocoa or cacao, crude and manufactured, coffee, raw and prepared, eggs, fish and fish products, fruits and nuts, meat and dairy products, salt, spices, sugar and molasses, tea and vegetables.

Wheat flour recorded the heaviest importation among the food products imported, amounting in value to ₱8,929,166, as compared with ₱6,033,528 in 1918, or an increase of 48 per cent. Australasia again this year ranked first among the countries of the world in supplying the Islands with wheat flour, imports from that country having increased from ₱5,526,666 in 1918 to ₱6,568,786 in 1919. China ranked next, with the United States

Importations of meat and dairy products increased in value from ₱6,799,571 in 1918 to ₱9,834,061 in 1919; vegetables, from ₱2,436,088 to ₱2,637,318; fruits and nuts, from ₱1,114,835 to ₱1,541,897; eggs, from ₱966,346 to ₱1,367,391; coffee, raw and prepared, from ₱748,017 to ₱756,654; sugar and molasses, from ₱84,612 to ₱659,594; and tea, from ₱197,368 to ₱225,876; while on the other hand, importations of fish and fish products showed a decrease in value from ₱5,212,350 in 1918 to ₱3,148,792 in 1919; crude and manufactured cocoa or cacao, from ₱992,459 to ₱965,837; spices, from ₱143,520 to ₱107,421; and salt, from ₱219,958 to ₱18,289.

COPRA.

This article has been and continues to be one of the principal items of exports of the Philippine Islands. Yet since 1917 local concerns began to import this article from abroad, in that year to the value of ₱2,412, this sum having been tremendously raised to ₱125,105 in 1918. In 1919 the value of copra importations has again raised to the enormous sum of ₱5,425,560, or an overwhelming increase of nearly 225,000 per cent over that for 1917. It would naturally seem surprising that a copra producing region such as the Philippines should register an abnormal importation of this article, but this was possibly justified if the necessities of the local oil mills, as well as the relative shortage of copra to supply these mills and the raise in value of this article which was noticeable during 1918, were taken into consideration.

The only countries from which copra was imported were the British East Indies and the Dutch East Indies, the former having supplied the Islands with 3,045,673 kilos, valued at ₱543,822, and the latter 23,427,306 kilos, valued at ₱4,881,738.

OTHER IMPORTS.

Automobiles.—Automobiles and parts thereof, including tires, amounted in value to ₱9,604,649, as against ₱6,525,665 in 1918, an increase of 47.2 per cent, constituting 4 per cent of the total imports. The number of automobiles imported was 2,557, as compared with 1,911 in 1918, 1,237 in 1917, and 986 in 1916. All of the automobiles came from the United States.

Mineral oil.—The value of oil imported during the year, including naphthas, crude oil for fuel, oil for illumination and lubricating purposes, and other classes, amounted to ₱13,147,080, as compared with ₱4,540,761 in 1918, or an increase of 189.5 per cent. This would tend to show that the necessities of industrial activities of the country have increased materially. The principal sources of importations of this class are the United States, the supply from which valued at ₱11,997,459; Dutch East Indies, ₱1,133,117; and British East Indies, ₱10,983. Small importations also were recorded from Japan, the United Kingdom, Spain, Australasia, and Sweden.

Paper and manufacturers thereof.—Imports of paper and manufactures thereof during the year amounted in value to ₱6,237,420, as compared with ₱3,683,982 in 1918, or an increase of 69.3 per cent. These include blank books, cigarette paper, printing paper, toilet paper, wrapping paper, envelopes, etc. Among the countries furnishing our paper imports and manufactures thereof during the year were, in the order of their importance, the following: United states, importing ₱3,909,535 worth of these goods; France, ₱874,543; Japan, ₱739,578; Spain, ₱433,068; China, ₱221,830; the United Kingdom, ₱23,335; Italy, ₱21,911; and the British East Indies, ₱11,376. Other countries registering insignificant exportations to the Islands of these articles are Austria-Hungary, Australasia, Canada, French East Indies, Hongkong, and Switzerland.

Coal.—The total import value of coal for the year amounted to ₦7,781,307, as compared with ₦4,662,349 for 1918, or an increase of 66.9 per cent. The principal sources of the Islands' coal supply were, in the order of their importance, Japan importations from which amounted to ₦6,549,883; China, ₦518,477; British East Indies, ₦354,929; Japanese China, ₦150,757; Australasia, ₦102,833; French East Indies, ₦94,480; and Spain, United States, Canada, Dutch East Indies, which recorded insignificant importations of this fuel.

Leather and manufacturers thereof.—Importations of leather goods of all kinds amounted in value to ₦5,759,635, as against ₦4,171,064 in 1918, or an increase of 38.1 per cent. These consisted of unmanufactured sole leather, belting, boots and shoes, harness and saddle, purses, etc. Imports of this class of goods from the United States amounted in value to ₦5,417,655; from Japan, ₦211,727; from Australasia, ₦112,454; from Spain, ₦5,832; from the United Kingdom, ₦5,630; and from China, ₦3,283. Small importations have also been recorded from the British East Indies, France, Switzerland, Siam, Hongkong, and the French East Indies.

Further details in respect to the quantities and values of other imports, and the principal countries of origin of same, will be found in the statistical tables appended hereto.

EXPORTS.

As previously stated, the value of the total exports for the year under review amounted to ₦226,235,652, as compared with ₦270,388,964 in 1918, or a decrease of 16.3 per cent. This decrease was due largely to the notorious decline in the exportation of hemp, as well as to the slight decreases in other articles of exportation, such as sugar, copra, maguay, cordage, etc.

In previous years hemp headed the list of principal articles exported from the Islands, but in 1919 it was replaced by coconut oil, which in 1918 stood second. Sugar, which was third in importance in respect to value among the articles exported in 1918, was pushed down to fourth place in 1919 and replaced by tobacco products in the third place.

Foreign merchandise amounting in value to ₦9,077,041 was exported during the year, as compared with ₦5,621,718 in 1918, while domestic products valued at ₦217,158,611 were exported, as compared with ₦264,767,246 for the year 1918. The United States consumed most of our exports during the year, same amounting in value to ₦113,305,384, or 50.08 per cent of the total exports, although this was less than that for the year 1918.

The United Kingdom ranked next, having consumed 14.16 per cent of our total exports, with Japan in the third place, the consumption being 6.22 per cent. Both of these countries showed less consumption of our exports in 1919 than what they recorded in this respect in 1918. China, Australasia, British East Indies, Siam, and Japanese China showed increases of their consumption of our exports over those for 1918, with British East Africa demanding ₱7,094 worth of our exports during the year when none was required by this country the year previous, while the French East Indies, Dutch East Indies, and Canada showed a slight decline in the consumption of our products. Among the European countries, the Netherlands and Norway did not import anything from the Philippines in 1918, whereas in 1919 they respectively imported ₱17,003,786 and ₱800 worth of goods from the Islands. France, Spain, and Belgium consumed more of our exports in 1919 than they did in the previous year, while slight declines are shown in the exportation to Switzerland and Italy.

COCONUT OIL.

Coconut oil during the year has taken precedence over all Philippine products as an article of export. In 1919 the quantity exported was 139,942,612 kilos, valued at ₱73,719,504, as compared with 115,280,847 kilos, valued at ₱63,328,317 exported in 1918, or an increase of 21.4 per cent in quantity and 16.4

HEMP.

As stated early in this report, the value of hemp was a factor of importance responsible for the unfavorable trade balance registered against the Islands at the end of the year under review. The total quantity exported during the year was 121,247,668 kilos, as compared with 169,260,377 kilos in 1918, or a decrease of 28.3 per cent. The value, above all, has fallen down considerably from ₱116,383,100 in 1918 to ₱53,703,052 in 1919, or a decrease of 53.8 per cent.

The list that follows shows that the United States, as usual, consumed the highest proportion of our hemp exports during the year. The United Kingdom, which comes next, recorded a reduction in the consumption of this article, both as to quantity and value, compared with exports of this commodity to that country in 1918. The same thing may be said of Japan, which country during the year showed a reduction of her imports of this article from the Islands, both as to quantity and value, compared with those of the previous year. Canada and China, however, imported from the Islands during the year more hemp than they did in 1918, both as to quantity and value, while Spain, Belgium, France and the Dutch East Indies, which countries did not consume any of our hemp exports in 1918, this year recorded a fairly good importation of this article from the Islands. Brazil, the British East Indies, and Hongkong imported during the year less amount of hemp than they did in 1918, but the values of said imports exceeded those for the year 1918, while exports to Australasia showed an increase in quantity in comparison with those of the previous year, but the value thereof was less than those for the year 1918, Newfoundland has not recorded any importation of this article in 1919, when that country had in the preceding year.

SUGAR.

The total quantity of sugar exported during the year amounted to 136,060,322 kilos, at an average value of P223.54 per one thousand kilos, which is the highest unit price on record. This quantity, however, is less than that of the previous year, which amounted to 273,258,396 kilos, or a decrease of 50.6 per cent. The value of the exportation of this commodity for the year was P30,415,701, as compared with P31,608,780 for 1918, or a decrease of 3.8 per cent. Almost 90 per cent of exports of centrifugal sugar went to the United States. As regards raw sugar, the greatest shares of our exports were sent to Hong-

COPRA AND COPRA MEAL.

Copra to the value of P8,839,376 was exported during the year, as compared with P10,377,029 for 1918, or a decrease of 14.8 per cent. Copra meal, on the other hand, amounting in value to P2,173,471, was exported, in comparison with P7,255 for 1918, or an unparalleled increase of 29,858.2 per cent. This immense increase in the export of copra meal tends to show that the amount of copra consumed locally has greatly increased, which accounts for the decrease in the exportation of that commodity. The continuous decline in copra exports due to rapid development that has taken place in the local coconut oil industry is obvious.

The following countries, which did not import any copra from the Philippine Islands in 1918, this year consumed great quantities of our copra exports:

	Kilos.	Value.
France	12,840,423	P4,280,794
United Kingdom.....	6,574,429	2,743,143
Spain	1,595,893	439,289
British East Indies.....	1,599,871	489,822
Belgium	176,944	63,582

The United States consumed P818,246 worth of our copra exports, amounting in quantity to 2,313,967 kilos, as compared with 55,061,641 kilos, valued at ₧10,377,011, exported thereto in 1918, or a decrease in value of 92 per cent. It will be seen that if the United States were included on the above list she would rank third among the consumers of our exports of copra, when in previous years she was the sole importer from the Islands of this article.

The following table shows the quantities and values of copra exported to all countries and to the United States in all years from 1899 to 1919:

EMBROIDERIES AND HATS.

The total value of exported embroideries was ₧6,913,004, as compared with ₧4,319,501 in 1918, or an increase of 60 per cent. Of the amount exported the largest share went to the United States, same being ₧6,855,653, as compared with ₧4,310,877 in 1918. The balance was distributed in small quantities among the United Kingdom, Spain, China, British East Indies, Hong-kong, and Australasia.

Hats to the value of ₧1,470,026 were exported, as compared with ₧1,183,446 in 1918, or an increase of 24.2 per cent. Of this amount ₧1,280,968 worth of hats were exported to the United States, and the balance to other countries.

MAGUEY AND CORDAGE.

Maguey to the value of ₧2,503,503 was exported during the year, as compared with ₧3,736,108, or a decrease of 33 per cent.

ORE AND BULLION.

The value of gold and silver in ore and bullion exported from the Philippine Islands began to decline since 1916. In that year the exports valued at ₱2,987,118, decreasing to ₱2,701,304 in 1917, and to ₱1,873,938 in 1918, while in 1919 it increased to ₱1,943,153. To the United States there were exported gold ore to the value of ₱100,000 and gold bullion amounting to 66,872 ounces, valued at ₱1,732,520. Gold bullion amounting to 3,911 ounces, valued at ₱110,633, was sent to China.

The following table shows the values of exports of gold and silver in ore and bullion for the years 1909 to 1919:

^a Data for the years 1909 to 1913 were obtained from the Bureau of Science.

Japan was the only country that imported iron ore from the Philippine Islands, same amounting in quantity to 16,099,536 kilos, valued at ₱66,755.

Exports of other articles not discussed herein may be seen in the tables appended hereto.

ARRASTRE PLANT.

The increase in the importations during the year has heavily taxed the arrastre plant to its limit. The amount of cargo handled was 340,740 tons, as compared with 324,660 tons in 1918 and 281,653 tons in 1917.

The following statement shows the amount of work performed by the Arrastre Plant and Government Piers, compared with that of 1918:

Photographs accompany this report illustrating Pier 5, which measures 650 feet long, plus a shore connection of 73 feet, and 100 feet wide, with a stowing capacity of 9,000 tons of cargo; Pier 3, measuring 600 feet long, plus a shore connection of 67 feet, and 70 feet wide, with a capacity of 5,000 tons; and two warehouses between these piers having a capacity of 3,500 tons each. Together with the custom-house wharf which has a net capacity of about 60,000 tons, about 35 per cent of which having been ceded to the Bureau of Supply, these constitute all the available space the Bureau uses in handling imported cargo, which were sufficiently adequate for the trade of 1910 (the year when the piers were put in operation) and those of some years thereafter, but hardly sufficient for the trades of the last two years. It will be seen that with the facilities of the port, the Bureau, with the unexpectedly large volume of imported cargo it was called upon to handle, was found face to face with conditions difficult to contend with. The handicap notwithstanding, everything within the power of this Bureau was done in an endeavor to cope with said difficulties. In addition, the Government has spared no efforts to remedy the situation, as plans for increasing the port facilities by constructing an additional pier and sheds were pushed through as rapidly as con-

IMMIGRATION AND EMIGRATION.

The passenger movement for the year shows an increase over that of the preceding year. A total of 23,448 persons arrived in, and 21,795 persons departed from, the Philippine Islands. These figures do not include enlisted men and others attached to the military or naval forces of the United States.

Of the total arrivals 3,324 were citizens of the United States and 3,598 citizens of the Philippine Islands returning from abroad. Of the aliens arriving the Chinese head the list, the number being 12,936, of whom 7,931 were immigrants and 4,999 non-immigrants, as compared with 10,376 during the preceding year, of whom 4,999 were immigrant aliens and 5,377 returning residents and transients. Japanese to the number of 1,643 landed in the Philippines, of whom 1,274 were immigrants and 369 returning residents and transients, as compared with 3,965 in 1918, of whom 3,559 were immigrant aliens and 406 returning residents. The decrease in the number of Japanese coming to the Philippines was 58 per cent. Peoples of different nationalities also arrived in small numbers. Of the total arrivals 19,069 were males and 4,379 females. The total arrivals also include tourists, of whom no statistical data have been compiled.

Of the total of departing people 3,023 were citizens of the United States and 6,765 citizens of the Philippine Islands visiting other countries. Of the aliens departing 8,607 were Chinese, of whom 112 were emigrants, 7,786 residents of the Philippine Islands and 709 were transients, as compared with 7,185 in 1918, of whom 10 were emigrants and 7,175 non-emigrants. Japanese to the number of 1,577 departed, of whom 844 were emigrants and 733 non-emigrants. Other nationalities also departed in small numbers. Of those who left the Islands during the year 18,529 were males and 3,266 females.

A total of 276 aliens were debarred from admission into the country during the year, while 126 aliens were deported under the various provisions of the Immigration and Opium Laws.

CONSULAR DUTIES.

The number of American seamen discharged during the year was 1,300. Three hundred and twenty-five (325) of these were discharged under mutual consent, 215 on account of illness, and 760 due to termination of contract. The policy followed by American consuls in discouraging discharges under mutual consent at their respective ports was not only strictly adhered to, but the undersigned went as far as allowing no discharges at this port under that cause, in order to minimize the danger of seamen becoming destitute and a burden on the United States Government. However, discharges under mutual agreement had to be allowed in some instances for the benefit of the ship, but in such cases precautions were taken that seamen so discharged were given employment in some manner, or were shipped out of the country as soon as practicable. Discharges on account of illness have been unusually large, and seamen so discharged have been properly cared for in exactly the same manner as were destitute American seamen. The expenses involved in subsisting and lodging destitute American seamen at this port, the number of whom amounted to 135, have been borne by this office, authority for so doing having been secured from the Secretary of Finance. The Bureau, of course, will be reimbursed for these expenses by the Department of State of the United States Government. Seven American seamen died in Manila during the year.

The shipment during the year of seamen on American vessels, including Army transports, amounted to 1,743 persons, of whom 1,000 were Filipinos.

One hundred and nineteen (119) consular invoices and one hundred and fifty-six (156) invoices of returned American goods were issued by this office during the year.

PROTESTS AND APPEALS.

During the year protests to the number of 143 were filed with the Insular Collector of Customs under the provisions of section 1370 of the Administrative Code. These protests were against the classification and appraisal of the value of imported merchandise, assessment of wharfage and storage, etc. Of these 52 were sustained; 33 were overruled and denied, 4 of the latter not having been filed in due time and 4 having been withdrawn; 4 were sustained in part, and 54 were pending action at the close of the year. Of the number overruled one was taken to the Court of First Instance in appeal, action on which being still pending.

DOCUMENTATION AND LICENSING OF VESSELS.

During the year a total of 647 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 21,193 were newly documented in the coastwise trade and in the bay and river business, as compared with 571 vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 18,333, in 1918. Of the vessels so documented four steamers were placed by their owners in the foreign trade, their aggregate net tonnage amounting to 5,717.66. Four hundred and fifty-six (456) were registered for the coastwise trade and 187 for the bay and river business, as compared with 342 and 229, respectively, in 1918.

Coastwise licenses were issued to 854 vessels, and bay and river licenses to 1,668 vessels. The number of vessels in commission during the year was 2,522, with a total net tonnage of 91,264.66.

INSPECTION OF VESSELS.

As shown in the table below, a total of 293 vessels, with an aggregate net tonnage of 60,329.61, were inspected by this Office in accordance with the requirements of navigation and steamboat inspection service. The number inspected in 1918 was 269, with a total net tonnage of 44,024.40.

Seventy-five (75) vessels, with a total net tonnage of 951.16, were wrecked or lost at sea during the past year.

MARINE OFFICERS.

The total number of persons who took examinations for the various grades of marine officers was 267, of whom 257 were Filipinos and 10 Americans. The number of successful candidates was 232, 224 of whom were Filipinos and 8 Americans, while the number of failures was 35, of whom 33 were Filipinos and 2 Americans.

The records show that at the close of the year 1919 there were 1,905 marine officers holding unexpired certificates as such, while 477 were holders of expired certificates pending renewal.

FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS.

Due to the decrease in the importations of rice, as well as to the comparatively small amount of dutiable goods, the bulk of the large importations during the year having been admitted free of duty as products of the United States, and to the decrease in exports which tended to reduce the importance of wharfage as a source of revenue, customs collections during the year 1919 showed a decrease of 12.3 per cent compared with those of the preceding year. The total collections, by sources, for the year 1919, in comparison with those of the year 1918, are shown in the following table:

Besides the collections shown above, internal revenue taxes amounting to P2,949,106.98 were collected by this Bureau pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 2342, as amended by Act No. 2445. The amount collected during the previous year was P2,144,564.31. The increase is due to the increased importations of distilled spirits, mineral oils, coal and coke, and playing cards.

The following table shows the collections from all sources and expenditures for the year 1919, compared with those for 1918 and 1917:

SECRET SERVICE.

No efforts have been spared to thwart all attempts of violations of the Customs, Immigration, and Opium Laws. The record of the Customs Secret Service shows that cases involving questions of this kind to the number of 158 have been handled, out of which 106 convictions were secured, 32 dismissed, and 20 pending final action at the close of the year. The fines imposed in such cases aggregated ₱62,008.

SUBPORTS.

CEBU.

The port of Cebu ranked second to Manila in respect to the volume of foreign trade in 1919, this record having been kept by this port for the last two years in rivalry with the port of Iloilo. The total trade of Cebu during the year was ₱34,020,960, of which ₱9,409,848 represents the value of the imports and ₱24,611,112 that of the exports, as compared with ₱11,484,577 imports and ₱24,718,359 exports for the year 1918. The balance of trade was in favor of the port to the amount of ₱15,201,264.

Coconut oil constituted the chief article of export from this port during the year, same amounting in value to ₱17,569,832, as compared with ₱12,634,272 for 1918, or an increase of 39 per cent. Coconut oil represented 71 per cent of the total exports from this port. Exportations of hemp, which in 1918 declined in value to ₱8,569,446 from ₱12,953,731 in 1917, still decreased to ₱5,775,527 in 1919. Exports of copra declined considerably from ₱2,262,257 in 1918 to ₱488,880 in 1919, while those of sugar increased from ₱91,432 in 1918 to ₱163,414 in 1919.

During the year under consideration 75 foreign vessels entered this port, with an aggregate net tonnage of 124,439, while 64 vessels aggregating 118,669 net tons cleared, as against 97 foreign vessels entered and 83 vessels cleared in 1918. Coastwise vessels to the number of 5,353, with a total net tonnage of 366,815, entered and 5,529 vessels of 378,522 net tons cleared, as compared with 5,609 vessels of 301,318 tons entered, and 5,627 vessels of 309,076 tons cleared in 1918.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱807,809.04, as compared with ₱2,207,846.15 for the previous year, or a decrease of 63.4 per cent. This appalling decrease is largely due to the cessation of rice importations into this port since the middle of the year covered by this report, and to the decrease in the quantity of dutiable goods imported from other countries. The greatest bulk of imported merchandise which entered this port during the year was admitted free of duty as articles the product or manufacture of the United States. Internal revenue collections, however, showed an appreciable increase compared with those of 1918, the gross collections for the year under consideration being ₱174,595.70, as against ₱111,552.31 for the year 1918, or an increase of 56 per cent. This increase is chiefly due to the increase in the amount of refined and manufactured mineral oils imported into this port during the year.

ILOILO.

The volume of foreign trade of this port during the year amounted to ₱30,638,118, as compared with ₱20,368,992 in 1918, or an increase of 50.4 per cent. Of the total trade ₱10,284,982 represents the value of imports and ₱20,353,136 that of the exports, or a balance of trade in favor of the port of ₱10,068,154.

Sugar, as usual, constituted the principal product of export, same amounting in value during the year to ₱18,479,339, as against ₱15,160,610 in 1918, or an increase of 21.9 per cent. The quantity exported, however, was 81,467,366 kilos, while that for 1918 was 143,617,642. The value of the former was greater than that of the latter, obviously due to the higher price commanded by this commodity in foreign markets during the year covered by this report. Aside from sugar, the only other important article exported from this port was copra, the exportations of which showed a big increase over those of the previous year, totalling in value to ₱1,672,096, as against ₱728,000 in 1918, or an increase of approximately 130 per cent.

During the year 90 foreign vessels entered this port, with a total net tonnage of 157,439, while 88 foreign vessels cleared, with a total net tonnage of 152,265, as compared with 69 vessels entered, tonnage 96,403, and 67 cleared, tonnage 99,525, in 1918. Coastwise vessels to the number of 5,277, tonnage 367,553, entered, and 5,308 vessels cleared, tonnage 372,168, as compared with 4,723 vessels entered, tonnage 287,197, and 4,744 cleared, tonnage 289,957, in 1918.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱593,632.62, as compared with ₱907,228.28 in 1918, or a decrease of 33.5 per cent. This decrease is due largely to reduced importations of rice. The quantity imported during the year was 3,980,239 kilos, on which duty amounting to ₱80,332 was collected, as compared with 14,992,162 kilos imported during the preceding year, the duty collected thereon being ₱268,733. Wharfage collections have also diminished by reason of reduced quantity of sugar exports. Another factor that caused the falling off in collections of this port was the high rate of exchange prevailing in China, which practically compelled the merchants to curtail their importations therefrom. Internal revenue collections, however, have increased from ₱92,768.60 in 1918 to ₱102,784.77 in 1919, which is a rise of 10 per cent.

JOLO.

The foreign trade of this port amounted to ₱1,516,517, as compared with ₱1,398,117, or an increase of 8.5 per cent. Of the total trade ₱836,340 represents the value of imports and ₱680,177 that of the exports. This port, therefore, recorded a balance of trade against it amounting to ₱156,163.

The principal article of export of this port was copra, same amounting in value to ₱253,435. No copra exportations from this port were recorded in 1918, although there were some in 1917 and 1916. Shells and fish products are also important articles of export from this port.

During the year 53 vessels in foreign trade entered this port, with a total net tonnage of 32,835, and 47 cleared, with net tonnage aggregating 30,165, as compared with 37 foreign vessels that entered, tonnage 15,225, and 38 cleared, tonnage 15,046, in 1918. In the coastwise trade there were 126 entrances, tonnage 31,562, and 126 clearances, tonnage 31,562, as compared with 120 entrances and 118 clearances, with total net tonnage of 25,312 and 25,154, respectively, in 1918.

Customs collections of this port during the year showed a decrease of 28.7 per cent, same being ₱144,595.30, as compared with ₱202,782.22 in 1918. The decrease was chiefly due to the cessation of rice importations. The decrease in the importations of textile from Singapore also contributed to the decrease in customs collections. Internal revenue collections likewise decreased, though slightly, from ₱15,132.65 in 1918 to ₱15,112.53 in the year covered by this report.

ZAMBOANGA.

The foreign commerce of this port amounted to ₱2,662,738 during the year, as compared with ₱1,837,592, or an increase of 45 per cent. Of this total, ₱1,791,958 represent the value of imports and ₱870,780 that of the exports, thus recording a balance of trade against it in the sum of ₱921,178.

The chief articles exported from this port during the year were copra, shells, crude rubber, fish and fish products, and gutta percha. Copra to the value of ₦491,887 was exported, as compared with ₦279,598 in 1918, or an increase of 76 per cent.

Foreign vessels to the number of 68, with an aggregate net tonnage of 114,411, entered this port, while 64 vessels, with total net tonnage of 111,530, cleared therefrom, as compared with 71 entrances and 65 clearances, with net tonnage amounting to 94,387 and 94,545, respectively. In the coastwise trade the number of entrances recorded was 1,126, with total net tonnage amounting to 147,313, and the number of clearances was 1,126 with an aggregate net tonnage of 150,579.

The returns of this port from customs collections during the year was highly gratifying, same amounting to ₦180,773.15, as against ₦178,432.06 collected in 1918. There was a great reduction in the importations of rice into this port, which entailed a considerable loss to the revenue, but this loss was counterbalanced by the increased importations of dutiable kerosene oil, which accounted for the increase in customs collections above pointed out. Internal revenue collections likewise showed a handsome increase of 345 per cent, same being ₦69,487.59, as compared with ₦15,628.52 for 1918. The increase was due to the unusually large importations of petroleum and gasoline during the year.

BALABAC.

The value of foreign trade of this port during the year was ₦37,262, as against ₦21,588 in 1918, or an increase of 72 per cent. Of the total trade the value of imports was ₦21,801, as compared with ₦12,347 in 1918, an increase of 76 per cent, while that of the exports was ₦15,461, compared with ₦9,241 in 1918, an increase of 67 per cent. The balance of trade was against the port in the sum of ₦6,340. Only two vessels in the foreign trade entered this port during the year, with a total net tonnage of 143, while one foreign clearance was recorded, tonnage 137. In the coastwise trade 33 vessels entered this port, with an aggregate net tonnage of 2,030 and 35 vessels cleared, with a total net tonnage of 2,046.

APARRI.

A coast district inspector is stationed at this port which is not a port of entry. Coastwise vessels to the number of 344 entered this port, and 289 cleared therefrom during the year. In the inland trade there were 910 arrivals and 735 departures.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

As recommended in previous reports, the construction of Pier 7 is now under way. It is further recommended that additional ones be constructed, which if done will greatly increase the facilities of the port to the benefit of the expanding commerce of the Islands.

CONCLUSION.

Complete information and details concerning customs transactions and all articles of commerce will be found in the appended statistical tables.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF CUSTOMS FOR THE FISCAL (CALENDAR) YEAR 1920

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the Annual Report of the Bureau of Customs, containing a compilation of the returns of commerce, navigation, and immigration and emigration of the Islands for the preceding year, compared with those of the previous years, together with a brief statement of the other activities of this Bureau.

FOREIGN COMMERCE.

The trade of the Islands for the year 1920 was the largest ever recorded since the American occupation, amounting in value to ₱601,124,276. Of this amount ₱298,876,565 represented the value of imports and ₱302,247,711 that of the exports. Both of these figures are larger than the corresponding ones for previous years since 1899. On account of the greater value of the exports the balance of trade at the close of the year was in favor of the Islands to the amount of ₱3,371,146.

The volume of cargo imported during the year, about five per cent (5%) of which was for transshipment to foreign ports, was 1,643,361.25 tons, as compared with 1,086,337.65 tons in 1919, while the exports amounted to 580,125.86 tons, compared with 571,659.02 tons for the previous year. It will thus be seen that during the last two years imports largely exceeded the exports in quantity, and the balance of trade in 1919 naturally resulted against the Islands. It will therefore strike one as surprising to note that there was a favorable trade balance in 1920, explainable only through inferring that increased prices for Philippine staples prevailed in foreign markets, to the evident advantage of the commerce of the Islands.

The following table shows the values of imports, exports, total trade, and trade balance for each year since 1899:

Value of imports and exports, total trade, and trade balance for each year from 1899 to 1920.

Of the different countries trading with the Islands during the year, the United States consumed almost sixty-five and two-thirds ($65\frac{2}{3}\%$) per cent of the trade. The balance was distributed among the other countries, the largest part going to Japan (7.83%); the next, to the United Kingdom (5.75%); the third, to China (4.31%); the fourth, to Hongkong (2.49%); the fifth, to Spain (2.14%); and the rest in small portions to other countries.

Compared with the year before, during the year under consideration the two principal countries doing business with the Islands, to wit, the United States and Japan, registered an increase both in their imports from and exports to the Islands. Trade with other countries also showed an increase both as to imports and exports, except the United Kingdom, China, the French East Indies, Hongkong, France, Siam, Switzerland, Japanese China, the Netherlands, Germany, Norway, Belgium, and British Africa, the exportation of Philippine products to all of which showed a decrease; while on the other hand imports from Australasia, Spain, Dutch East Indies, and Japanese China showed a decrease.

The following tables show the values of imports from, exports to, and total trade with the different countries for 1920 and 1919:

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

Customs collections during the year showed an increase of 23 per cent over those of the preceding year. The amount collected was ₱17,757,865.34, as against ₱14,425,307.38 in 1919. The increase is due to the increased collections in import duties on rice, cotton goods, diamonds, silk, and other dutiable goods. Said increase is also attributed to the increased collections from other sources, such as tonnage dues, arrastre and pier dues, immigration dues, etc., the direct result of increased shipping activities. On the other hand, the expenses incurred in running the Bureau amounted to ₱1,600,805.78, or an expenditure of ₱0.09 for every peso collected.

The following statement shows the collections from all sources and expenditures from the year 1899 to 1920, as well as the cost of collection per peso for all of these years:

Internal revenue taxes collected by this Bureau on imported merchandise amounted to ₱3,319,404.50, compared with ₱2,949,106.98 in 1919, or an increase of 12 per cent. The increase is due to the increased importations of oils and other articles, as shown in the following table of imported merchandise subject to internal revenue tax and the amount of said tax collected:

FOREIGN CARRYING TRADE.

The actual number of vessels of different nationalities trading with the Islands during the year was 450, with a total net tonnage of 1,400,555.44, as against 306 in 1919, with a total net tonnage of 880,831.59. Almost 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent of these vessels was of American registry, the number being 158, net tonnage 579,164.41. Second on the list was the number of British vessels, the same being 120, net tonnage 399,094.56, and third the Japanese, with a total number of 177, net tonnage 328,092.74. British and Japanese vessels have increased in number compared with the previous year. Philippine vessels are fourth.

The following table shows the extent of the increase in the merchant marine of the different nationalities in relation to the number trading the year previous, except the Spanish vessels which show a considerable decline:

In entrances and clearances during the year British vessels are ranking, the numbers registered being 345 entrances and 342 clearances, as against 233 and 235, respectively, in 1919. American vessels come second with 238 entrances and 240 clearances, compared with 173 and 158, respectively, for the year before. Japanese vessels are in the third place, recording to their credit 223 entrances and 221 clearances, against 177 and 178, respectively, in 1919. Then come as fourth in rank vessels of Philippine registry, with 110 entrances and 115 clearances, compared with 117 and 108, respectively, for the previous year. Vessels of other nationalities show increases and decreases in entrances and clearances as will be seen in the following table:

Of the goods imported into and exported from the Philippine Islands during the year those carried in American vessels were valued at ₱259,643,836, which was more than those transported in them in 1919; in English bottoms, at ₱215,220,275, also more than the preceding year; in Japanese ships, at ₱70,235,674, likewise more than the year before; in Spanish boats, at ₱12,918,428, which was more than the year previous. Philippine vessels, however, which in 1919 stood fourth in importance in the carrying trade among the vessels of different nations, this year retrograded to the extent of transporting only ₱5,242,209 worth of merchandise, when the year before these boats had to their credit ₱16,180,685 worth of goods carried.

Of the goods imported into the Islands during the year those carried in British vessels had the greatest value, amounting to ₱138,082,663, whereas in 1919 they only carried ₱73,295,196. American bottoms stood second, the value carried being ₱105,979,021, as against ₱84,789,950 in 1919. Japanese ships imported goods to the value of ₱30,464,729, as compared with ₱43,688,317 in 1919, showing a slight decrease. Boats of other nationalities, including Philippine vessels, also registered decreases in transporting the Islands' importations, with few exceptions.

As to Philippine products exported abroad those transported in American bottoms had the greatest value, reaching the figure of ₱153,664,815, while in 1919 they only transported ₱97,042,637 worth of these goods. British vessels in the carrying of our exports were in the second place, with the Japanese ships standing third, the figures being ₱77,137,612 and ₱39,770,945, respectively, compared with ₱75,547,467 and ₱25,370,947, respectively, for 1919. On the other hand boats of other countries, including Philippine vessels, registered decreased spaces in taking Philippine products to foreign markets, with few exceptions.

The following tables show the value of trade carried by the vessels of different countries trading with the Islands during the year:

IMPORTS.

In the history of the Islands' importations the largest on record is that for the year 1919, which aggregated P237,278,104 in value. This, however, was exceeded by that for the year under review, totalling P298,876,565, or an increase of 26 per cent. The articles that registered heavy importations are, in the order of their importance as to value, cotton and its manufactures, iron and steel and their manufactures, mineral oils, rice, automobiles and accessories, meat and dairy products, coal, wheat flour, silk and its manufactures, fish and fish products. The respective values of all of these articles as imported in 1920, except that of iron and steel and its manufactures, are greater than those for the previous year. These commodities appear in the following table as the ten principal imports of the year, with their respective values, their proportion of the total imports, and the degree of their increases and decreases in relation to the imports of the same articles in 1919:

The ten largest imports of the Philippine Islands in the year 1920 as compared with the year 1919.

PRINCIPAL ARTICLES IMPORTED.

Cotton and manufactures of cotton.—Importations of these articles during the year have been markedly extraordinary in that they constituted the largest part of the total importations, as will be noted in the above table, or 23 per cent thereof. The total value of imports of cotton goods for the year amounted to ₱68,795,756, which is the highest on record compared with similar importations during the last four years. It may also be stated that these importations showed an increase of 78 per cent over those of similar articles in 1919. Of the whole cotton goods imports the largest part originated in the United States, or 64.91 per cent; not a small portion of the same, or 16.87 per cent, originated in Japan; 8.87 per cent in China, and 6.87 per cent in the United Kingdom. It will be noted that in 1919 our third source of supply of these commodities was the United Kingdom, but during the year under review she was relegated to fourth place, having been substituted by China. These four countries registered an increase in the exportation of these products to the Islands compared with the previous year. Unlike the year 1919, imports of this kind from other countries showed substantial increases, except Spain and the Netherlands, which showed slight decreases.

The following table shows the values of imports of cotton and manufactures thereof, their countries of origin, for the past four years:

Iron and steel.—The value of imports of iron and steel for the year 1920 reached the amount of P43,758,204 and constituted 15 per cent of the total value of all importations during the year. This is, however, slightly less than the value of similar imports during the previous year. The principal source of the Islands' supply of these products was the United States, 85.87 per cent of the whole shipment thereof having been imported from that country, although the said imports were slightly less than those of the year before. Imports from Hawaii, while less than those originating therein in 1919, were larger than those of any other country importing similar goods. The Islands' demands of these products from the United Kingdom, which continued to decline since the European War until they slightly increased in 1919, in 1920 reached the value of over a million pesos. Imports from Japan also showed a notable increase, when this country recorded a decrease of this class of importations in 1919 compared with 1918. Great increases are also noticeable in the imports of iron and steel from the Netherlands, Sweden, British East Indies, and Australasia, while Italy and Switzerland, from which there were no importations of these articles in 1919, in the year under consideration respectively sold to these Islands more than three and forty-five thousand pesos' worth of these goods. France and China recorded slight increases, whereas on the other hand Spain, Norway and Hong-kong registered decreases. While it may seem apparent from the table below that Germany's imports of iron and steel into the Islands are less than those of the previous year, she in fact must be credited with having sold to the Islands more of these products than she did during any time since she went to war, the figures for 1919 having been obtained as a result of the sale of goods from her interned vessels.

The following table shows the values of iron and steel imports and the countries of origin during the last four years:

Mineral oils.—During the year, mineral oils of distinct varieties, such as naphthas, refined oils, crude oil for fuel, etc., amounting in quantity to 132,671,553 liters and valued at ₱18,769,463, were imported. The quantity imported in 1919 was only 95,405,641 liters, valued at ₱13,147,080. It will therefore be seen that in 1920 more mineral oils were consumed in the Philippines than in the previous years.

The sources of the Islands supply of mineral oils were, in the order of their importance as to quantity and value, the United States, importations from which amounted to 102,350,487 liters, valued at ₱16,142,329; Dutch East Indies, to 29,954,290 liters, at ₱2,577,166; British East Indies, to 192,385 liters at ₱14,171; and the United Kingdom, to 116,918 liters, at ₱24,308. The only other countries supplying the Islands with mineral oils were Australasia and Japan, in which small quantities originated.

Rice.—Five per cent of the total importations of the Islands represented rice imports, consisting of 77,334 tons, valued at ₱16,329,770, as against 50,819 tons imported in 1919, valued at ₱8,817,362. The average price of imported rice from 1899 to 1918 ranged from ₱5 to ₱9 per one hundred kilos, but in 1919 this price was computed at ₱17.35, still rising to ₱21.12 in the year under review.

Local importers obtained most of their supply of rice from the French East Indies, the quantity bought therefrom being 39,730,691 tons, valued at ₱7,707,737. A slightly smaller amount was purchased from Siam, amounting to 37,564,178 tons, but the price of the Siam rice was higher than that of the French East Indies, that for the former having been paid for at ₱8,606,189. Smaller quantities have also been brought from Japan, the British East Indies, Spain, and the United States.

The following table shows, in respect to the importations of rice, the quantity, value, average value per 100 kilos, and percentage of total imports for the years 1899 to 1920:

Automobiles, automobile parts, and tires.—A total of 3,835 automobiles were imported during the year, the total cost of which was ₱9,038,156. The number imported in 1919 was 2,557, valued at ₱5,947,075. Almost all of the automobiles imported came from the United States; the number being 3,829, at an aggregate value of ₱9,017,298. One was imported from the United Kingdom, valued at ₱3,403, and five from France, at a total cost of ₱17,455.

Importations of automobile parts reached the value of ₱1,843,678, almost all of which were bought from the United States, insignificant quantities having been purchased from Japan, the United Kingdom, and France. The only countries from which automobile tires were imported were the United States and the United Kingdom, the shipment from the former being valued at ₱4,034,088 and that from the latter at ₱5,444.

Meat and dairy products.—The total value of meat and dairy products imported during the year was ₱11,603,753, whereas in 1919 the value only reached ₱9,834,061, there being therefore an increase of 18 per cent. The value of these imports from the United States was the highest, amounting to ₦6,513,647; that from China was the second, amounting to ₦2,696,617; that from Australasia was third, amounting to ₦1,811,863; that from the Netherlands was fourth, amounting to ₦164,688; and that from the United Kingdom was fifth, amounting to ₦118,226. Small importations have also been registered from Spain, Japan, Denmark, Switzerland, France, Dutch and British East Indies, Norway, and Italy.

Coal.—The total value of imports of coal during the year was ₦10,792,077, as against ₦7,781,307 in 1919, or an increase of 39 per cent. The quantity also increased from 400,537,494 to 540,055,501 kilos. As in previous years, Japan recorded the largest supply of our imports of this commodity, the same being 325,963,048 kilos. Australasia was the next country sending large shipments to the Islands, amounting during the year to 100,569,881 kilos. There were also smaller importations from the British East Indies, China, the United States, French and Dutch East Indies. All of these countries exported to the Islands more coal in 1920 than in 1919, particularly the United States which showed a big increase.

Wheat flour.—The value of wheat flour imported during the year amounted to ₦9,443,515, as against ₦8,929,166 in 1919, or an increase of 6 per cent, and constituting 3 per cent of the total importations. The amount so imported was 45,674,758 kilos, compared with 46,927,449 kilos in 1919, showing higher prices in 1920 than was prevalent the year before. Australasia in previous years had invariably supplied our markets with more wheat flour than any other country, but in 1920 she was exceeded by the United States, the supply of the latter being 19,507,196 kilos, as against 18,052,862 corresponding to the former. The Australasian flour, however, appears to be higher in price than the American, as the former's supply was valued at ₦4,103,894 while that of the latter was only ₦3,637,241.

Imports of this class from China showed a decrease from 10,310,121 kilos in 1919 to 7,438,764 kilos in 1920. Small quantities have also been imported from Japan and the British East Indies.

The following table shows the value of importations of wheat flour from all countries and from the United States since 1899 up to 1920:

Silk and its manufactures.—The value of silk and its manufactures imported during the year has increased 21 per cent from P4,987,266 in 1919 to P6,036,511 in 1920. Of the importations of this kind from all countries that from the United States had the highest value, amounting to P3,046,360, that from China to P1,553,409, and that from Japan to P1,011,525. Importations from the United Kingdom amounted to P234,355; from Switzerland, to P70,544; from France, to P61,387; from Spain, to P22,208; from Germany, to P15,733; from the British East Indies, to P13,781; and from Italy, to P4,108. Importations from other countries have been so small that they need not be mentioned.

Fish and fish products.—The value of fish and fish products imported was P5,706,114, as compared with P3,148,792 in 1919, or an increase of 81 per cent. The largest portion of these imports originated in the United States, the value being P5,015,733. China furnished our markets with P326,578 worth of these goods, while Japan with P263,409. Imports from other countries are as follows: Spain, P30,636; France, P10,391; Siam, P6,024; Australasia, P4,450; British East Indies, P5,428; and the United Kingdom, P3,934. Imports from Denmark, Hawaii, and the French East Indies are so insignificant that they need not be stated.

Other imports.—There was a considerable decline in the value of copra imported during the year, which amounted to only P171,752, while in 1919 imports of this class amounted to P5,425,560 in value. Imports of leather and manufactures thereof amounted to ₱3,130,304 in value, against ₱5,759,635 in 1919. Imports of paper and its manufactures totalled ₱4,964,112 in value, compared with ₱6,237,420 in 1919. Imports of other articles are stated in detail in the statistical tables appended hereto.

EXPORTS.

The value of the exportations of the Philippines during the year under review was ₱302,247,711, which has no parallel in the past exports of the country since the American occupation. Compared with the preceding year, when the exports only amounted to ₱226,235,652, the increase for 1920 is 33 per cent. The cause of the increase may be seen in the tabular statement below which shows the notorious increases in the exportations of sugar, hemp, and embroideries, and the slight increases in that of other domestic products:

Of the total goods exported from the Islands during the year the largest portion, or 69.62 per cent, went to the United States, 8.03 per cent to the United Kingdom, and 4.93 per cent to Japan. Smaller portions were shipped to Hongkong, Spain, and the Netherlands, being 4.59, 3.77, and 2.27 per cent, respectively. The balance was distributed in small quantities among other countries.

Large increases are noted in the consumption of our exports during the year by the United States, Spain, France, Australasia, Siam, British Africa, and Canada, compared with the year 1919, Germany in particular, to which no exportations from the Islands were registered in 1919, whereas in 1920 she bought more than two million pesos' worth of our goods. Small increases are also noted in our exports to Japan, Italy, Hawaii, Guam, British and Dutch East Indies, and Switzerland. On the other hand, exports to the United Kingdom, China, Netherlands, Hongkong, and French East Indies showed a decrease.

Foreign merchandise to the value of ₦6,183,130 was exported during the year, as compared with ₦9,077,041 in 1919, and domestic products valued at ₦296,064,581 were exported, as against ₦217,158,611 in 1919.

The principal articles of exports are discussed separately in the paragraphs that follow.

PRINCIPAL ARTICLES EXPORTED.

Sugar.—The most important article sent out of the country during the year was sugar, amounting in quantity to 180,340,670 kilos, valued at ₦99,238,520, as compared with 136,060,322 kilos in 1919 at a cost of ₦30,415,701, or an increase of 32 per cent in quantity. The average value of sugar was ₦550.28 per thousand kilos, which is the highest unit price on record. Of the sugar exported ₦36,720,596 represents the value of centrifugal sugar, ₦62,515,172 that of raw, and ₦2,752 that of refined.

The quantities and values of sugar exports to all countries and to the United States for the years 1899 to 1920 are shown in the following statement:

The increased demands in the markets of the United States of centrifugal and raw sugar, as well as in those of Japan and Hongkong of centrifugal sugar, account for the increase in our exports of this class. The United States consumed 82,719,206 kilos of raw sugar, valued at ₦47,916,929, against 6,595,891, valued at ₦1,172,400 in 1919, or an increase of 1,154 per cent in quantity. Her consumption of centrifugal sugar was 41,228,003 kilos, valued at ₦30,780,940, against 25,563,472 kilos in 1919, valued at ₦6,545,534. Japan's consumption of centrifugal gal sugar was 4,570,212 kilos, at a total cost of ₱2,098,672, whereas in 1919 her record shows only 304,295 kilos, at a total cost of ₱124,527, the increase for 1920 being 1,401 per cent in quantity. Hongkong's demand of centrifugal sugar was 7,371,960 kilos, valued at ₱3,827,283, while in 1919 there were shipped thereto only 2,927,027 kilos, valued at ₱1,180,416, the increase in quantity, therefore, being 152 per cent.

It is to be noted that there have been decreases in the exports of raw sugar to Hongkong and Japan, as well as of both centrifugal and raw sugar to China, Guam, and Spain, to say nothing of the United Kingdom, the markets of which did not buy any Philippine sugar in 1920, while in 1919 there were sent thereto more than four and a half million pesos' worth of raw sugar. These decreases, however, are sufficiently offset by the eloquent figures above discussed with reference to the exports to the United States, Hongkong, and Japan.

The quantity of refined sugar exported during the year was insignificant, Hongkong and Guam being the only countries to which this class of sugar was sent.

Hemp.—Hemp exports during the year are larger than those of 1919. A total of 141,485,785 kilos of hemp were exported, valued at ₱71,724,000, compared with 121,247,668 kilos during the previous year, at ₱53,703,052, or an increase of 16 per cent in quantity. The increase is due to the larger demands of this staple in most of the foreign markets. From the statement below it will be seen that while hemp exports to some countries have decreased, those to a large number of the consumers of this article have increased, without mentioning the Netherlands, Italy, and Germany, which countries had no hemp imports from the Islands in 1919, whereas in 1920 they purchased an aggregate of nearly a million pesos' worth of hemp.

The following statement shows the quantity and value of hemp shipped from the Islands to the different countries:

Coconut oil.—There was during the year a marked depression in the exports of coconut oil, the total quantity exported being 77,571,405 kilos, as against 139,942,612 in 1919, or a decrease of 44 per cent. The decrease is due to the apparent dullness of the oil markets in the United Kingdom, which practically made no demands of this product in 1920. France, Egypt, Canada, and Guam did not record any importations from the Islands of this product, when they did the year before. Even the United States, the largest consumer of our coconut oil exports, registered a decrease in the consumption of this article. A study of the following list will give an idea of the depression of the Islands' coconut export trade:

Tobacco products.—The total value of exports of tobacco products during the year was ₧39,854,782, as compared with ₧31,390,084 in 1919, or an increase of 27 per cent. These products consist of cigars, cigarettes, leaf tobacco, smoking tobacco, etc.

More cigars have been exported in 1920 than in 1919, as will be seen from the following statement showing how they have been distributed among the different countries:

Exports of cigarettes showed a decrease, the quantity exported being 124,770,669 pieces, valued at ₧339,571, as against 155,307,225 pieces in 1919, valued at ₧394,729. Large quantities have been shipped to Hongkong, Japan, China, the United States, Spain, Hawaii and Guam, and small amounts to other countries.

Exports of leaf tobacco also showed a decrease, the amount exported being 19,939,788 kilos, as against 21,507,316 kilos in 1919. The value of the former, however, amounted to ₧13,480,965, which is higher than that of the latter, ₧12,459,210. As in 1919, Spain consumed the largest portion of our leaf tobacco exports, the quantity amounting to 2,664,638 kilos, valued at ₧1,384,242. Shipments in small quantities have been made to other countries.

The following tables show the quantities and values of tobacco products exported to all countries and to the United States each year from 1899 to 1920:

Embroideries.—One of the most successful business undertakings in the Islands is the embroidery industry. The value of exports of this class in 1920 reached the amount of P15,623,567, an increase of 126 per cent over that of the previous year, which amounted only to P6,913,004. In 1918 the value of embroidery exports was P4,319,501, and in 1917, P3,929,318, which shows the evident increase in the activities of the local exporters in an effort to carry this industry to the summit of complete success.

The United States, as usual, consumed almost all of our embroidery exports, the value of the shipment thereto being ₱15,569,470, as compared with ₱6,855,653 in 1919. Exports to the United Kingdom was valued at ₱24,038, as against ₱400 for the year before, and to Hawaii ₱15,427, while the value of the shipment thereto during the previous year amounted only to ₱9,507. The balance was sent in small quantities to Germany, the British East Indies, Egypt, Dutch East Indies, Guam, Hongkong, Australasia, Spain, and China.

Copra.—Exports of copra showed a decrease of 16 per cent from ₱8,839,376 in 1919 to ₱7,433,741 in 1920. The decrease is due to the complete cessation of these exports to France and Belgium, the former being the largest consumer of Philippine copra in 1919. Another factor that accounts for the decrease is the falling off in the price of this commodity, as it will be noted that while the quantity exported during the year under consideration is greater than that of 1919, the average value of the former is ₱288.09 per one thousand kilos, compared with the unit price of ₱352.25 for the same quantity in 1919.

The following list shows the consumption of our copra in the different markets of the world:

Maguey.—The total value of exports of maguey during the year was P2,737,848, compared with P2,503,503 in 1919, or an increase of 9 per cent. The increase is due to the increased demand abroad of this article, as will be seen from the following list which shows the distribution of maguey among the different countries compared with their respective consumption in 1919:

Lumber and timber.—Lumber and timber to the value of ₱1,830,583 were exported during the year, as compared with ₱805,427 in 1919, or an increase of 127 per cent. Of the total value so exported ₱1,824,345 represents the cost of lumber and ₱6,238 that of timber. The countries to which lumber and timber were sent from the Islands are shown in the following list, which also gives the exports thereto in 1919:

Hats.—Hats to the value of ₱1,539,596 were exported in 1920, against ₱1,470,026 in 1919, an increase of 4 per cent. These articles are of local make, generally known as bamboo, buntal, buri, hemp, and Arayat hats. A large part of these exports were sent to the United States, the records showing that there were shipped thereto 177,809 Arayat hats, 174,800 buntal hats, 123,011 bamboo hats, 39,326 buri hats, and 19,643 hemp hats.

The list that follows shows the extent of demands of these hats made by the foreign markets during the last two years:

^a Data for the years 1909 and 1913 were obtained from the Bureau of Science.

Other exports.—Exports of other articles may be found in the tables appended hereto.

ARRASTRE PLANT.

As already stated, there have been increased importations during the year, the amount of cargo handled by the Arrastre Plant thereby increasing from 340,740 tons in 1919 to 400,950 tons in 1920. The following statement shows the amount of work performed by this branch of the Bureau, compared with that of the previous year:

It is gratifying to note that the result of the operation of the plant has been such that less complaint against the same has been received than during the year before. Much relief will be felt in all quarters upon the completion of the new pier, when the what is known as port congestion will be a thing foreign to Manila, but in the meantime the Bureau, with the coöperation of the shipping firms, spared no effort, with the present means available for the operation of the plant, to so improve the service as to reach its maximum efficiency, all for the benefit of the ever increasing trade of the Islands.

An average of 380 laborers per day were employed both on the piers and the Custom House wharfs.

IMMIGRATION AND EMIGRATION.

The passenger movement for the year shows an increase over that of the preceding year. A total of 27,735 persons arrived in, and 24,713 departed from the Philippine Islands. These figures do not include enlisted men and others attached to the military and naval forces of the United States.

Of the total arrivals 4,421 were citizens of the United States, of whom 2,622 arrived from the continental United States and

1,799 from foreign countries; and 5,319 were citizens of the Philippine Islands, of whom 2,013 returned from the continental United States and 3,306 from other countries. Of the aliens arriving the Chinese head the list, the number being 14,875, of whom 9,461 were immigrants, 5,411 non-immigrants, and 3 coming from the United States, as compared with 12,936 during the preceding year, of whom 7,931 were immigrant aliens and 4,999 returning residents and transients. Japanese to the number of 952 landed in the Philippines, of whom 590 were immigrants, 354 returning residents and transients, and 8 coming from the United States, as compared with 1,645 in 1919, of whom 1,274 were immigrants and 369 returning residents and transients. The decrease in the number of Japanese coming to the Philippines was 42 per cent. Peoples of different nationalities also arrived in small numbers. Of the total arrivals 22,162 were males and 5,573 females. The total arrivals also include tourists.

Of the total departing people 4,372 were citizens of the United States, of whom 3,160 departed for the continental United States and 1,212 for other countries; and 6,523 were citizens of the Philippine Islands, of whom 4,486 went to the United States and 2,037 to foreign countries. Of the aliens departing 10,536 were Chinese, of whom 89 were emigrants, 10,432 residents of the Philippine Islands and transients for foreign countries, and 15 visiting the United States, as compared with 8,620 in 1919, of whom 112 were emigrants, 7,786 residents of the Philippine Islands and 709 transients. Japanese to the number of 1,222 departed, of whom 598 were emigrants and 623 non-emigrants. Other nationalities also departed in small numbers. Of those who left the Islands during the year 20,642 were males and 4,071 females.

A total of 595 aliens were debarred from admission into the country during the year, while 380 aliens were deported under the various provisions of the Immigration and Opium Laws.

CONSULAR DUTIES.

The number of seamen discharged from American merchant vessels during the year was 1,100. Four hundred eighty-eight (488) of these were discharged by mutual consent, 158 on account of illness, 295 due to termination of contract, and 159 for cause. It has been observed that in most cases discharges by mutual consent carried with them certain reasons other than mere mutual consent, which were sufficient enough to warrant their approval by this office, either for the improvement of the service of the ships or for the benefit of the seamen. There were instances where seamen of certain vessels complained against their officers on account of ill-treatment, and the latter against the former for offenses which were difficult to substantiate, and in such cases discharges by mutual consent were generally resorted to by the masters and the seamen. Seamen discharged, except those who remained in the Saint Paul's Hospital for treatment and those who found employment on other vessels, were always immediately repatriated to the United States on the first available United States Army transports, after their discharge. Venereal diseases were chiefly responsible for the large number of discharges on account of illness, and many seamen so discharged were cared for in exactly the same manner as were destitute American seamen according to their merits. The number of destitute American seamen given subsistence and lodging has been unusually large for two reasons: First, because during the year there was a marked increase in the number of American vessels calling at this port, especially United States shipping board vessels, with the consequent corresponding increase in the number of American seamen becoming destitutes, and second, because the American Consulates in Asiatic ports shipped of late to Manila the destitute American seamen found in their respective ports, alleging that United States Army transports seldom call at such ports and there was, therefore, very little chance of shipping them to the United States. These American Consulates and the seamen themselves look upon Manila as the United States shipping center in the Far East.

The expenses involved in subsisting and lodging destitute American seamen at this port, the number of whom amounted to 375, were paid by this office, under the authority of the Secretary of Finance. The Bureau will be reimbursed of these expenses by the Department of State of the United States Government. Four American seamen died in Manila during the year. The shipment during the year of seamen on American vessels, including Army transports, numbered 1,328 persons, of whom 754 were Filipinos and 34 Chinese.

One hundred twenty-two (122) consular invoices and two hundred seventy-three (273) invoices of returned American goods were issued by this office during the year.

PROTESTS AND APPEALS.

During the year protests to the number of 217 were filed with the Insular Collector of Customs and with collectors of customs at the different subports of entry, under the provisions of section 1370 of the Administrative Code. These protests were against the classification and appraisal of the values of imported merchandise, assessment and collection of wharfage and storage, etc. Of the number of protests so filed 75 were sustained, 44 overruled and denied, 20 dismissed, and 78 were pending action at the close of the year. Of the number overruled one was appealed to the Court of First Instance, action on which is still pending.

DOCUMENTATION AND LICENSING OF VESSELS.

A total of 533 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 18,883.19 were newly documented in the coastwise and foreign trades and in the bay and river business. This number is less than that for the preceding year and that for 1918, which are 647 and 571, respectively. Of the vessels so documented in 1920, 137 were for the coastwise trade, tonnage 4,886.02, 4 for the foreign trade, tonnage 7,630.09, and 392 for the bay and river business.

Coastwise licenses were issued to 929 vessels, and bay and river licenses to 2,115, with net tonnage amounting to 56,303.17 and 43,073.20, respectively. The number of vessels in commission during the year was 3,044, with a total net tonnage of 99,376.37.

INSPECTION OF VESSELS.

A total of 223 vessels, with an aggregate net tonnage of 49,481.95, were inspected by this office in accordance with the requirements of navigation and steamboat inspection service. Of the vessels so inspected 165 were steamers, with a total net tonnage of 38,994.50, and 58 were sailing vessels, with a total net tonnage of 10,487.45. The number inspected in 1919 was 293, with a displacement of 60,329.61 net tons.

The following tables show the different sizes and kinds of vessels inspected during the year and their aggregate gross and net tonnage:

The number of employees separated on account of retirement, resignation, or other causes amounts to 98, while 109 employees were employed during the year.

SECRET SERVICE.

The closest surveillance of all ports of entry has been exercised with a view to preventing all attempts of violations of the Customs, Immigration, and Opium Laws. As a result seizures of goods of all kinds, including vessels, to the number of 43 were made during the year and subjected to condemnation proceedings. Of the number so seized 37 were forfeited to the Government of the Philippine Islands and 6 decided in favor of their respective owners. Of the number forfeited 3 were taken to the Court of First Instance on appeal, the court having confirmed the decision of this office in each case.

Cases involving violations of the Opium Law to the number of 368 were taken to the Court of First Instance for prosecution, out of which 214 convictions were secured, 61 dismissed, and 93 pending action at the close of the year. The fines imposed in such cases aggregated ₱36,852.

PORT OF CEBU.

The total trade of Cebu during the year amounted to ₱38,462,091, of which ₱9,090,365 represented the imports and ₱29,371,726 the exports. There is, therefore, a balance of trade in favor of the port amounting to ₱20,281,361. The trade of this port in 1919 was only ₱34,020,960, of which ₱9,406,843 were imports and ₱24,611,112 exports, the increase of the total trade for the year under review being 13 per cent.

The principal articles imported into this port during the year are, in the order of their importance as to value, rice, amounting in value to ₱2,793,396 (₱4,146,288 in 1919); cotton goods, to ₱1,370,434 (₱709,248 in 1919); kerosene oil, to ₱1,099,436 (₱1,415,575 in 1919); naphthas and all lighter products of distillation, to ₱1,041,337 (₱208,533 in 1919); iron and steel and manufactures thereof, to ₱466,626 (₱641,854 in 1919); and coal, to ₱410,237 (₱159,737 in 1919).

The principal articles imported into this port during the year to ₱11,119,619, against ₱5,775,527 in 1919; coconut oil, to ₱9,231,329, against ₱17,569,832 in 1919; copra, to ₱4,899,094, against ₱488,880 in 1919; and sugar, to ₱2,480,016, of which ₱1,650,000 represented the cost of centrifugal sugar and ₱830,016 that of raw sugar, as compared with ₱163,414 in 1919, all of which represented the value of raw sugar. United States goods to the value of ₱37,839 were exported from this port.

During the year under consideration there were, in the foreign trade, 127 vessels entered, showing a net tonnage of 300,718, and 122 vessels aggregating 297,244 tons were cleared, as against 75 vessels entered and 64 vessels cleared in 1919, with 124,439 and 118,669 tons, respectively. In the coastwise trade there were 4,867 entrances of 349,854 tons, and a clearance of 4,971 vessels of 342,487 tons, as compared with 5,353 vessels of 366,815 tons entered and 5,529 vessels of 378,522 tons cleared in the year 1919.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱886,983.74, as compared with ₱807,809.04 for the previous year, or an increase of 9.8 per cent. The increase is due to the increased importations of rice and other dutiable goods, as well as to the greater volume of exports and the consequent increase in wharfage dues. The shipping activities have also increased, thereby increasing the tonnage dues. Due to greater importations of refined and manufactured mineral oils, internal revenue collections have also increased from ₱174,595.70 in 1919 to ₱241,992.10 in 1920.

PORT OF ILOILO.

The year 1920 has been one of the most prosperous that the port of Iloilo has experienced for a long time, the total trade amounting to ₱80,424,491, as compared with ₱30,638,118 for the previous year, or an unprecedented increase of 162 per cent. Of the total trade ₱16,477,995 represented the imports and ₱44,450 in 1919; gutta-percha, to ₱50,236, against ₱12,164 in favor of the port amounting to ₱47,468,501.

The principal articles imported into this port during the year are, in the order of their importance as to value, iron and steel and manufactures thereof, amounting in value to ₱7,274,726 (₱5,658,140 in 1919); rice, to ₱2,112,140 (₱637,968 in 1919); cotton goods, to ₱1,231,545 (₱790,731 in 1919); kerosene oil, to ₱876,121 (₱809,593 in 1919); carabao and other cattle, to ₱782,327 (₱579,364 in 1919); coal, to ₱520,445 (₱110,000 in 1919); and silk and manufactures of silk, to ₱444,312 (₱136,660 in 1919).

Exportations of sugar, which article constitutes the main source of wealth of the district under this port, jumped from 81,467 gross tons in 1919 to 116,185 tons in 1920, showing an increase of 42 per cent. The value of the latter was ₱63,795,212, compared with ₱18,479,339 of the former. Of the sugar exported, ₱44,157,634 represented the cost of raw sugar and ₱19,637,578 that of centrifugal sugar, compared with ₱15,202,316 and ₱3,277,023, respectively, for the previous year. Exports of other articles from this port are so small that they are unimportant.

During the year under consideration there were 141 entrances of vessels in the foreign trade, showing a net tonnage of 307,713, and 141 vessels aggregating 310,866 tons were cleared, as against 90 vessels entered and 88 vessels cleared in 1919, with an aggregate of 157,439 and 152,265 tons, respectively. In the coastwise trade there were 6,748 entrances of 494,761 tons, and a clearance of 6,749 vessels of 493,959 tons, as compared with 5,277 vessels of 367,553 tons entered and 5,308 vessels of 372,166 tons cleared in the year 1919.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱1,014,661.43, as compared with ₱593,632.62 in 1919, or an increase of 70.9 per cent. The increase is due to the enlargement of the volume of imports as a result of the prosperity of the trade of the port, with the consequent increase in the collections of import duties. The increase is also due to the larger volume of exports, thereby increasing the collections in wharfage dues, as well as to the increased foreign shipping activities resulting in the increase of collections in tonnage dues. Internal revenue collections likewise increased from ₱102,784.77 in 1919 to ₱143,155.28 in 1920.

PORT OF JOLO.

The total trade of Jolo during the year amounted to ₱1,215,501, of which ₱615,049 represented the imports and ₱600,452 the exports. There is, therefore, a balance of trade against the port amounting to ₱14,597. The trade of this port in 1919 amounted to ₱1,516,517, of which ₱836,340 were imports and ₱680,177 exports, the decrease of the total trade for the year under review being approximately 20 per cent.

The principal articles imported into this port during the year are cotton goods, amounting in value to ₱283,122 (₱117,652 in 1919); coffee, to ₱50,672 (₱16,240 in 1919); tobacco products, to ₱50,097 (₱57,183 in 1919); sugar and molasses, to ₱24,990 (₱21,063 in 1919); silk and manufactures of silk, to ₱14,652 (₱11,777 in 1919); and iron and steel and their manufactures, to ₱11,152 (₱20,075 in 1919).

The principal articles exported are fish and fish products, amounting in value to ₱152,293, against ₱195,475 in 1919; shells, to 150,826, against ₱141,680 in 1919; and copra, to ₱136,865, against ₱253,435 in 1919. A good quantity of gutta-percha was also exported from this port, the value being ₱49,147, as well as raw sugar valued at ₱13,916. United States and foreign products valued at ₱55,676 were also exported.

During the year under consideration there were 54 entrances of vessels in the foreign trade, showing a net tonnage of 27,367, and 56 vessels aggregating 28,157 tons were cleared, as against 53 vessels entered and 47 vessels cleared in 1919, with 32,835 and 30,165 tons, respectively. In the coastwise trade there were 113 entrances of 20,622 tons, and a clearance of 112 vessels of 20,085 tons, as compared with 126 vessels of 31,562 tons entered and 126 vessels of 31,562 tons cleared in 1919.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱123,185.07, as compared with ₱144,595.30 in 1919 or a decrease of 15 per cent. The decrease is principally due to the almost complete absence of rice importations and the general trade depression of this port. Internal revenue collections also showed a decrease from ₱15,112.53 in 1919 to ₱10,684.57 in 1920.

PORT OF ZAMBOANGA.

The total trade of Zamboanga during the year amounted to ₱3,256,197, of which ₱2,343,307 were imports and ₱912,890 exports. There is therefore a balance of trade against the port in the sum of ₱1,430,417. The trade of this port in 1919 was only ₱2,662,738, of which ₱1,791,958 were imports and ₱870,780 exports, the increase of the total trade for the year under review being 22 per cent.

The principal articles imported into this port during the year are kerosene oil, amounting in value to ₱563,480 (₱514,133 in 1919); cotton goods, to ₱485,088 (₱141,739 in 1919); naphthas and all lighter products of distillation, to ₱304,746 (₱143,019 in 1919); copra, to ₱153,364 (₱45,136 in 1919); and iron and steel and manufactures thereof, to ₱139,145 (₱70,809 in 1919).

The principal articles exported are copra, amounting in value to ₱245,981, against ₱491,887 in 1919; lumber and timber, to ₱127,285, against ₱38,760 in 1919; rubber, to ₱87,550, against ₱44,450 in 1919; gutta-percha, to ₱50,236, against ₱12,164 in 1919; gum copal, to ₱38,016, against ₱69,724 in 1919; shells, to ₱29,915, against ₱63,173 in 1919; fish and fish products, to ₱22,724, against ₱28,597 in 1919. United States and foreign goods were also exported from this port, amounting in value to ₱229,888.

During the year under consideration there were 70 entrances of vessels in the foreign trade, showing a gross tonnage of 119,437, and 71 vessels aggregating 120,300 tons were cleared, as against 68 vessels entered and 64 vessels cleared in 1919, with 114,420 and 111,530 tons, respectively. In the coastwise trade there were 1,475 entrances of 157,740 tons, and a clearance of 1,489 vessels of 157,537 tons, as compared with 1,126 vessels of 147,313 tons and 1,126 vessels of 150,579 tons in the year 1919.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱139,268.10, as compared with ₱180,773.15 for the previous year, or a decrease of almost 23 per cent. The decrease is due to various causes, chief among which being the large amount of petroleum admitted free of duty and the fact that a large quantity of this product remained in bond at the close of the year. Internal revenue collections also showed a decrease from ₱68,487.59 in 1919 to ₱36,818.43 in 1920.

BALABAC.

The total trade of this port amounted in value to ₱102,566, of which ₱62,754 represented the cost of the imports and ₱39,812 that of the exports, there being therefore a trade balance against the port amounting to ₱22,942. The trade in 1919 was only ₱37,262, of which ₱21,801 were imports and ₱15,461 exports, the increase in the total trade being therefore 175 per cent.

Of the various articles imported into this port only two were of importance on account of their value, namely, cotton goods, amounting to ₱50,796 (₱15,596 in 1919), and iron and steel and their manufactures, amounting to ₱2,496 (₱832 in 1919).

Of the domestic goods exported the largest was gum copal, the value thereof being ₱29,602, as against ₱5,117 in 1919. Shells to the value of ₱6,505 were also exported. No foreign goods were exported from this port.

During the year under consideration there were in the foreign trade, 14 vessels entered and 13 vessels cleared, tonnage 251 and 209, respectively, as against 2 vessels entered in 1919, tonnage 143, and one vessel cleared, tonnage 137. In the coastwise trade, 35 vessels entered and 40 cleared, tonnage 2,427 and 2,529, respectively, compared with 33 vessels entered and 35 cleared in 1919, tonnage 2,030 and 2,046, respectively.

Due to the increased importations into this port, collections increased from ₱3,263.37 in 1919 to ₱6,131.83 in 1920.

INTERIOR PORTS.

A coast district inspector is stationed at Aparri, Cagayan, and another at Legaspi, Albay. These inspectors look into the admeasurement and licensing of small water crafts plying in the waters of their respective districts, as well as the enforcement of the Customs Law. The conditions in general of these two districts are reported to be good.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

There are various reports in the files of this office showing that small foreign vessels visit our coasts quite often, engaged, as reported, in fishing, in violation of the Customs Law. Good reasons exist for the belief that these vessels do not engage in fishing, but are actually employed in the illegal traffic and in the smuggling in of immigrants.

Information has emanated from a reliable source to the effect that firearms are being landed in some parts of the Islands, although no positive proof can be gathered to substantiate the report. However, taking into account that vessels engaged in illegal traffic may enter some of our isolated gulfs at night and leave therefrom without being noticed under cover of darkness, it is not altogether preposterous to say that the information is well founded.

Another instance is known where the people living on the coast of one of these Isles were terrified by the visit of a party of non-Christians from a foreign country, the purpose of the visit being solely to plunder the villages along said coasts. The result of this piratical act was that the peaceful inhabitants were forced to abandon their small plantations and fled towards the mountains, thus escaping the ravages of the marauders.

In view of all the foregoing, the undersigned sees fit to recommend again the restoration of the Coast Guard Service which was established in 1901 and discontinued in April, 1918, although not with so many as sixteen vessels as the service originally had at the time of its inauguration. It is believed that with five vessels in addition to the customs cutter "Mindoro" the Bureau will be able to: (1) Protect the customs and internal revenues; (2) assist vessels in distress; (3) enforce the navigation and immigration laws; (4) protect the Philippine coasts from piratical attacks and suppress piracy; and (5) thwart all attempts to traffic illegally in firearms and ammunition.

In addition to the above, the following recommendations heretofore made are hereby reiterated:

1. Construction of Pier 9.
2. Construction of a modern Custom House to replace the present one which is old and deteriorated.
3. The closing of the entrance gap between the two breakwaters in the Manila Harbor and the dredging of the south end of south breakwater to a depth of at least thirty-five feet at mean low tide, the same to be the new entrance to the harbor.
4. Pushing through as rapidly as possible the construction of Pier 7, a pier road for passengers, and the remodelling of Pier 5 to bring it up to the standard of modern piers.
5. The construction of a new detention station for immigrants.
6. The dredging of the Pasig River.
7. The dredging of the Iloilo River.
8. The extension of the Jolo wharf to one hundred feet on each end of the same, and the acquisition of the Jolo provincial building for customs purposes.

9. The transfer of the operation of the Arrastre Plant to a private concern.

CONCLUSION.

Complete information and details concerning customs transactions and all articles of commerce will be found in the appended statistical tables.

Respectfully submitted.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS
DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE
BUREAU OF CUSTOMS
MANILA

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the Annual Report of the Bureau of Customs, containing a compilation of the returns of commerce, navigation, immigration and emigration of the Islands for the year 1921, compared with those of the previous years, together with a brief statement of the other activities of the Bureau.

FOREIGN COMMERCE

The year 1921 closed with a balance of trade against the Islands, the value of the imports being ₱231,677,148 and the exports ₱176,230,645, as compared with ₱298,876,565 and ₱302,247,711, respectively, for the preceding year. It will be seen that the difference between these figures is markedly and largely in favor of the year before. The unfavorable trade balance was not unexpected, considering the general business depression prevailing the world over.

The foreign commerce of the Islands in general, however, has been steadily increasing since the American occupation to the close of 1921, a period of 23 years, as will be seen by comparing the value of trade during the first twelve years with that of the period from 1911 to 1921. From 1899 to 1910 the value of the foreign trade of the country amounted to ₱1,455,560,816, as compared with ₱3,515,486,829 during the period from 1911 to 1921.

While the balance of trade was against the Islands up to 1904, the development of commerce continued until 1903, when the total trade amounted to ₱132,416,260. As against this amount, business suddenly declined in 1904, when the value of the total trade amounted to ₱117,454,462 only. Economic conditions of the Islands came to its normal level the following year, when the total trade reached the sum of ₱127,010,648. From 1905 to 1909 the balance of trade was in favor of the Philippines, although the value of imported and exported merchandise remained stationary. In 1910 the importation exceeded the exportation of local products, thus turning the trade balance against the country. This condition continued for four years up to the close of 1913, when the Islands began to export more than what was purchased for consumption therein, the trade having turned its balance against the country during 1919 and 1921 only.

The extent of the trade with all countries, compared with the previous year, is shown in the following tables:

While the above tables show a depression of trade in general, commerce with some countries was normal, and in fact imports from and exports to the same were larger than those for the preceding year. Imports from the following countries, for example, show a difference in favor of 1921 compared with the year before:

	1921	1920
Dutch East Indies.....	P5,403,261	P4,798,121
Germany.....	1,250,200	693,526
Canada.....	652,304	192,792
Japanese-China.....	241,779	160
Belgium.....	102,705	26,141
Norway.....	39,105	9,705
Austria.....	26,238	23,039

Exports to the following countries show an improvement over those of the preceding year:

	1921	1920
Netherlands.....	P10,453,723	P6,857,132
Germany.....	6,178,925	2,094,298
France.....	5,346,895	1,987,081
Austria.....	327,432	266

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES

Customs collections during the year showed a decrease of 5.03 per cent compared with the previous year. The gross amount collected was ₱16,863,064.14, as against ₱17,757,865.34 for 1920. The decrease is due to the fact that a large portion of the total importations were cleared free of duty under section 12 of the Philippine Tariff Act of 1909 (free trade with the United States), and to the dullness in the local market resulting in decreased importations of dutiable goods, rice in particular, with the consequent falling off in the collections from this source.

The expenses on the other hand amounted to ₱1,505,877.62, or an expenditure of ₱.089 for every peso collected.

Internal-revenue taxes collected by this Bureau on imported merchandise showed an increase of 11.83 per cent over those of 1920. The taxes so collected amounted to ₱3,712,326.72, as against ₱3,319,404.50 for the preceding year. The increase is due to the fact that goods subject to this tax originating in the United States are not upon entry exempted therefrom. It is also due to increased importations of the following merchandise subject to said tax: Distilled spirits, including perfumery, medicines and other articles containing alcohol; fermented liquors; chewing tobacco; smoking tobacco; cigarettes (American); matches; playing cards; cinematographic films; and lubricating oil.

FOREIGN CARRYING TRADE

Less ships called at Philippine ports of entry during the year than during 1920. There was in 1921 a total of 354 vessels, with an aggregate net tonnage of 1,272,779.77, engaged in the carrying of products to and from the Philippines, as compared with 450 during 1920, with a total registered net tonnage of 1,400,555.44. It is to be noted that British, Dutch, Spanish, and Swedish bottoms increased in comparison with the previous year, while vessels of other nationalities, including American and Japanese, the two great maritime powers, decreased in number. This is shown in the following table:

While from 1918 to 1920 American vessels were leading in the transportation of merchandise to and from the Philippine Islands, in 1921 British ships went ahead and carried products to the value of ₱169,723,340, against ₱139,015,672 carried in American bottom. This is clearly due to the increase of British tonnage. The value of goods carried in Japanese vessels was ₱49,916,812; in Dutch boats, ₱19,517,779; in Spanish ships, ₱6,316,814; and in vessels of Philippine registry, ₱3,864,339.

Of the goods sent to the Islands for consumption those transported by British vessels had the greatest value, amounting to ₱109,387,341. American vessels carried ₱74,809,502 worth of our imports, while those carried in Japanese ships cost ₱29,169,887. Dutch vessels brought in ₱6,314,435 worth of merchandise, while vessels under Philippine registry imported products to the value of ₱3,379,522. The value of goods imported in Spanish boats amounted to ₱1,304,940.

On the other hand American vessels were leading in the transportation of domestic products abroad, the value of our exports carried thereon being ₱64,206,170, as against ₱60,335,999 exported on British ships. Japanese vessels carried ₱20,746,925 worth of our exports. Dutch boats transported our products to foreign markets amounting to ₱13,203,344 in value, while Spanish and Philippine vessels, respectively, carried ₱1,788,182 and ₱484,817 worth of our exports.

IMPORTS

Except when compared with those for 1919 and 1920, importations of the Islands during 1921 are the largest since 1899. The United States supplied 64 per cent of the total imports, or ₱148,260,030, which amount is less than that recorded for 1920. Japan sent to this country 9.18 per cent of our total imports, or ₱21,269,531, as compared with ₱32,178,231 for the previous year, while from China came 8.24 per cent, or ₱19,096,018, as against ₱21,487,364 in 1920. The value of our imports from the United Kingdom was ₱8,596,964, compared with ₱10,379,596. It will be seen that, as was the case with the United States, imports from these two countries during the year showed a decline. Slight decreases are also noticeable in the importations from other countries, except from a few of them, particularly Germany, importations from which showed a large increase over the preceding year, the figures being ₱1,250,200 and ₱693,526, respectively.

The following table shows the ten largest imports of the Philippines compared with the previous year, showing increases and decreases:

Iron and steel and manufactures thereof.—As will be seen from the above table, the largest part of the total imports of the Islands during the year, or 19 per cent thereof, consisted of iron and steel and their manufactures. The largest portion of imports of this kind originated in the United States, as shown in the following statement:

The largest portion of importations of this kind consisted of illuminating oil, which amounted in quantity to 65,567,220 liters, valued at ₧9,014,714, of which 60,010,085 liters were imported from the United States at a total cost of ₧8,259,162. Other kinds of oils, such as naphthas, lubricating, and residuum, also came from the United States in immensely larger quantities than from other countries. However, the largest portion of crude oil importations originated in the Dutch East Indies.

Meat and dairy products.—There was a decrease of 9 per cent in the importations of meat and dairy products during the year compared with the previous year, the values being ₧10,581,021 and ₧11,603,753, respectively. The United States, China, and Australasia are the principal sources of the Islands' supply of this product, as shown in the following statement:

Automobiles, automobile parts, and tires.—The value of automobiles, automobile parts, and tires imported during the year reached the amount of ₱9,645,260, but this is a decrease of 35 per cent with the value of similar importations during the preceding year, which was ₱14,921,366.

The number of automobiles imported from the United States decreased from 3,829 in 1920 to 1,892 in 1921, while from France, United Kingdom, Italy, and Germany, more were imported in the latter year than during the previous one. These cars were imported as follows:

Coal.—Importations of coal during the year showed a decline compared with the previous year. The quantity imported amounted to 461,889,328 kilos, valued at ₱6,987,004, as against 540,055,501 kilos for 1920 valued at ₱10,792,077. As in previous years Japan was in 1921 the Islands' principal source of supply of coal. All other countries except the United States, sent to this country less quantity of coal than in 1920, notably the French East Indies, from which practically none was imported. The following statement is self-explaining:

Rice.—There was a decrease of 59 per cent in the value of rice imported, from ₱16,329,770 in 1920 to ₱6,649,395 in 1921.

Large quantities were imported from Siam and the French East Indies, although less when compared with the previous year, as may be seen in the following statement:

Paper and its manufactures.—An increase of 22 per cent in the value of imports of this kind was registered during the year. From the following statement it will be seen that from the United States the largest part of these imports were purchased:

From the United States a large quantity of printing paper was imported, amounting to 3,757,950 kilos, valued at P1,912,207. Japan exceeded any other country in the supply of cigarette paper, there having been imported from that country 144,681 kilos of this material, valued at P211,365. France was next to Japan, the imports of the former being 127,748 kilos valued at P396,763.

Tobacco products.—There was an increase of 15 per cent in the value of tobacco products imported, as shown in the following list:

Cigarettes were the most important in respect to value amongst imports of tobacco products, there having been imported from the United States 230,538,831 pieces, valued at P2,175,269. Leaf tobacco for wrapping purposes in the manufacture of cigars, amounting to 105,773 kilos and valued at ₱570,881, was imported from the United States, while from the Dutch East Indies came 49,292 kilos, valued at ₱518,886.

Foodstuff.—₱44,265,418 worth of food products, including meat and dairy products and rice, was imported during the year. This is, however, less than the value of foodstuffs imported in 1920, which amounted to ₱61,730,553. The different articles constituting food imports are specified in the following list:

Other imports.—Imports of other articles not given above are stated in detail in the statistical tables appended hereto.

EXPORTS

There was a decline of 42 per cent in the export trade of the Islands, the value thereof being ₱176,230,645, as compared with ₱302,247,711 in 1920. The decrease is due to the falling off in the price of the principal staples of the country sent to foreign markets.

Fifty-seven per cent of the total export trade of the Islands went to the United States, and 43 per cent was distributed among other countries. The export trade with all countries, including the United States, showed a decrease, except the following which imported more goods from the Islands than during the preceding year:

Sugar.—The most important article sent out of the country during the year was sugar, the quantity exported being 289,876,158 kilos at a total cost of ₱51,037,454. In 1920 the quantity exported was only 180,340,670 kilos, but this was valued at ₱99,238,520, or at an average price of ₱.55 per kilo, as against ₱.18 per kilo of the quantity exported in 1921. The falling off in price of this staple is therefore evident.

There were three classes of sugar exports, namely, centrifugal, raw, and refined. To the United States was sent almost all of our centrifugal sugar, while Hongkong, Japan, and China consumed large quantities of raw sugar. Most of the refined sugar was exported to the British East Indies. The following tables show the distribution of these articles amongst the different countries:

Coconut oil.—More coconut oil was exported during the year than in 1920, but the value of the former was less than that of the latter. The quantity so exported was 90,292,242 kilos, valued at ₹32,103,036, or an average price of ₹0.36 per kilo, as against 77,571,405 kilos exported in 1920, valued at ₹46,537,775, or an average cost of ₹0.60 per kilo. It is therefore evident that the price of this commodity has declined considerably.

Notwithstanding the falling off in the price of coconut oil in foreign markets, the export trade of this commodity to all countries showed an increase, with the exception of Spain and Belgium, which countries imported from the Islands no coconut oil when they made an appreciable demand of this article the year before. The following table shows the consumption of our coconut oil exports in the different markets of the world during the year:

Copra and copra meal.—Exports of copra showed an increase of 252 per cent in value and 482 per cent in quantity over those of the preceding year. The increase is due to increased demands of this staple in foreign countries, particularly the United States, Netherlands, Germany, and France, as shown in the following statement:

Hemp and cordage.—Hemp exports during the year amounted to a total of 100,401,940 kilos, valued at ₹25,969,385, as against 141,485,785 kilos in 1920, valued at ₹71,724,000. A comparison of these values shows that there has been a decrease of about 50 per cent in the average price of this commodity.

Of the different grades of hemp exported the following are noteworthy in that large quantities of the same were shipped out of the country:

Grade J, amounting to 19,729,251 kilos, valued at ₹4,605,479, exported as follows:

Tobacco products.—These consist of cigars, cigarettes, leaf tobacco, smoking tobacco, etc. The export trade of cigars and cigarettes showed a large decrease, while that of leaf tobacco showed a slight improvement.

Spain and France were the largest consumers of our leaf tobacco exports. Large portions of cigars were sent to the markets of the United States, Spain, and China, while most of the cigarettes were exported to Hongkong, Spain, China, and Hawaii. The greatest quantity of smoking tobacco exports went to Spain.

The following tables show the distribution of these different products among all countries trading with the Islands:

Embroideries.—Embroidery exports during the year showed a decline of 31 per cent in value, from P15,623,567 in 1920 to P10,696,207 in 1921. Almost all of the exports of this kind was sent to the United States, amounting in value to ₱10,677,322, as against ₱15,569,470 in 1920. The only other countries to which embroidery goods were sent were Hawaii, Egypt, and the United Kingdom. That foreign markets for this kind of goods was dull may be seen in the following table:

Maguey.—A slight increase is noted in the quantity of maguey sent abroad, which was 11,991,414 kilos, as against 10,808,725 kilos exported in 1920. The former, however, was valued at less than the latter, thus showing a decline in the price of this commodity.

The following table shows the extent of the exportations of this staple to foreign markets:

Lumber and timber.—Lumber and timber to the value of ₱1,208,930 were exported during the year, as compared with ₱1,830,583 in 1920, or a decrease of 14 per cent. Of the amount so exported ₱7,591 represents the value of 124 cubic meters of timber, of which 106 cubic meters, valued at ₱6,450, were narra exported to the United States.

The different kinds of lumber sent abroad are shown in the following tables:

Ore and bullion.—The value of gold ore exported from the Islands during the year was P51,083, as compared with P20,500 in 1920, or an increase of 149 per cent. The only country to which gold ore was sent is the United States.

Gold bullion amounting in quantity to 108,968 ounces, valued at P2,610,292, was exported, of which 108,521 ounces, valued at P2,594,292, were sent to the United States and 447 ounces, valued at P16,000, to China. In 1920 the quantity sent to the United States was 92,317 ounces, valued at P2,323,386, while none was shipped to China.

United States gold coins amounting to P11,000 were sent to Hongkong, and American silver money to the amount of P2,540 was shipped to the United States. No American gold and silver coins were sent out of the country in 1920.

Other exports.—Exports of other articles are contained in the statistical tables appended hereto.

ARRASTRE PLANT

The depression in the commerce of the Islands during the year caused a decrease in the amount of cargo handled by the Arrastre Plant, there having been a total of 275,013 tons discharged on and laden from the piers and wharf, as against 400,950 tons in 1920. The following statement shows the amount of work performed by this branch of the Bureau in comparison with the work done during the previous year:

PROTESTS AND APPEALS

The Board of Protests and Appeals in Manila received during the year 101 protests against the classification and appraisal of imported merchandise, collection of tonnage dues and storage charges, etc., in accordance with section 1370 of the Administrative Code. Of this number 24 were overruled and denied, 4 dismissed, 27 sustained, and 46 were pending decision at the close of the year. Of the number overruled and denied not a single one was taken to the Court of First Instance on appeal.

Similar protests were received by collectors of customs at subports of entry, the number acted upon and sent to this office on appeal and for review being 12. Six of the decisions of said collectors were affirmed, five reversed, and one pending at the close of the year.

IMMIGRATION AND EMIGRATION

There has been an increase in the passenger movement for the year over that the preceding year. A total of 26,538 persons arrived in, and 31,833 departed from, the Philippine Islands, both figures not including enlisted men and others attached to the military and naval forces of the United States.

Of the total arrivals 3,662 were citizens of the United States, of whom 1,928 arrived from the continental United States, and 1,734 from other countries. Filipinos arriving from abroad totalled 5,923, of whom 3,008 came from the United States and 1,734 from other countries. There were 16,847 aliens arriving in the country, of whom 13,989 were Chinese, 874 Japanese, 740 English, 505 Spanish, and other peoples in small numbers.

Of the total departures 3,625 were American citizens, of whom 2,013 left for the continental United States and 1,612 for other countries. Filipinos to the number of 9,196 left the country, of whom 7,762 departed for the United States and Hawaii, and 1,434 for other countries. The number of aliens leaving the Islands was 19,005, of whom 15,954 were Chinese, 1,137 Japanese, 710 English, 567 Spanish, and other peoples in small numbers.

There were 903 aliens debarred from admission into the country during the year, of whom 849 were Chinese, 43 East Indians, 6 English, 1 Japanese, 1 Portuguese, and 3 Malaysians. Only Chinese and East Indians were deported under the various provisions of the Immigration and Opium Laws, the former numbering 164 and the latter 2.

SEAMEN

A total of 405 seamen were discharged in Manila during the year from American merchant vessels, as against 1,100 during 1920. Of these seamen 221 were Americans, 169 Filipinos, 14 Chinese, and 1 Japanese. A total of 112 of these seamen became destitute and were granted consular relief. The number of destitute seamen sent to Manila by American Consuls in nearby countries was 42. All of these destitute seamen left the country as members of the crew of American vessels bound for the United States, except 74 who were given transportation at the expense of the United States Government. Of the discharged seamen, 2 died in Manila during the year, their money and effects having been disposed of according to law.

There were 135 Filipinos who obtained employment on American vessels, 12 Chinese, and 1 Japanese.

139 consular invoices and 377 invoices of returned American goods were issued by this office during the year.

DOCUMENTATION AND LICENSING OF VESSELS

A total of 251 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 6,900.13 were newly documented in the coastwise and foreign trades and in the bay and river business. Of the vessels so documented in 1921, 87 were for the coastwise trade, tonnage 3,235.06 (9 steam vessels, tonnage 39,931 and 78 sailing vessels, tonnage 2,835.75), 1 for the foreign trade, tonnage 1,129.93, and 163 for the bay and river business, tonnage 2,535.14.

Coastwise licenses were issued to 925 vessels (162 steam vessels, tonnage 25,650.71 and 763 sailing vessels, tonnage 26,656.64), and bay and river licenses to 1,976, with net tonnage amounting to 52,307.35 and 40,220.53, respectively. The number of vessels in commission during the year was 2,901, with a total net tonnage of 92,527.88.

INSPECTION OF VESSELS

As against 223 in 1920, a total of 491 vessels with an aggregate net tonnage of 58,675.21 were inspected by this office during the year in accordance with the requirements of navigation and steamboat inspection service. Of these 374 were steamers and 117 sailing vessels, as shown in the following tables:

Vessels to the number of 946 were permitted to operate in the coastwise trade and in the bay and river traffic pending issuance thereto of certificates of inspection.

MARINE OFFICERS

Out of a total of 222 applicants examined by the Board of Marine Examiners for the different grades of marine officers, only 2 were Americans, the others being Filipinos. The number of successful candidates was 178, all of whom were Filipinos, while that of the failures was 44, the two Americans being among the latter. The following table shows the number of applicants seeking qualification for the different grades:

SECRET SERVICE

The result of a close surveillance of all ports of entry exercised during the year is the apprehension of violators of the customs, opium and immigration laws. Out of a total of 404 cases 262 convictions were secured and 53 dismissed, the fines imposed in such cases aggregating ₱58,331, with a total of 62 years, 2 months, and 6 days' imprisonment.

PORT OF CEBU

The trade of Cebu during the year amounted to ₱36,941,329, as compared with ₱38,462,091 in 1920, or a slight decrease of about two million pesos. This is due to the decrease in value of the articles imported into this port, the figures being ₱7,225,958 in 1921, as against ₱9,090,365 in 1920. On the other hand the value of the articles exported from this port amounted to ₱29,715,371, which exceeds the value of those exported therefrom during the previous year, amounting to ₱29,371,726. The foregoing figures show that, as was the case in 1920, the balance of trade was in favor of the port during the year under review.

The principal articles imported into this port are as follows: kerosine oil, amounting in value to ₱1,589,696 (₱1,099,436 in 1920); cotton goods, to ₱1,303,836 (₱1,370,434 in 1920); naphthas and all other lighter products of distillation, to ₱1,175,585 (₱1,041,337 in 1920); rice, to ₱1,232,967 (₱2,793,396 in 1920); iron and steel and manufactures thereof, to ₱335,760 (₱466,626 in 1920); and other goods of smaller values.

Four of the well-known Philippine products were exported from this port in large quantities, namely, copra, amounting in value to ₱13,105,374 against ₱4,899,094 in 1920; coconut oil, to ₱9,518,320 against ₱9,231,329 in 1920; hemp, to ₱4,699,209 against ₱11,119,619 in 1920; and maguey, to ₱1,261,129 against ₱879,475 in 1920. Only raw sugar was exported from this port to the value of ₱451,968, as compared with ₱830,016 in 1920. Leaf tobacco was also exported, amounting to ₱442,844 in value, none having been exported therefrom during the previous year. Other exports from this port are insignificant.

During the year under consideration there were 139 entrances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, with a total net tonnage of 393,346, and 135 clearances of similar vessels representing a total net tonnage of 390,670, as against 127 entrances of 300,718 net tons and 122 clearances of 297,244 net tons in 1920. The coastwise movement resulted in 5,062 entrances and 5,112 clearances, with a total net tonnage of 349,235 and 344,103, respectively.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱1,150,109.35, as against ₱886,983.74 in 1920, or an increase of 29.66 per cent. The increase is chiefly due to an increase in wharfage fees collected on cargo shipped to foreign countries, and partly to the fact that only about 25 per cent of the imports during the year originated in the United States and entered free of duty, while in 1920 nearly 50 per cent of the total imports came from the United States and enjoyed that privilege. Internal revenue taxes have also increased from a net total of ₱239,923.14 to ₱256,800.10 in 1921, the increase being largely due to increased importations of refined and manufactured mineral oils.

PORT OF ILOILO

The trade of Iloilo during the year amounted to ₱49,520,654, as compared with ₱80,424,491 in 1920, or an appalling decrease of 38 per cent. The decrease is due partly to a slight decrease in the importations, the figures being ₱15,921,552 in 1921 and ₱16,477,995 in 1920, and chiefly to the falling off in the price of local products exported, these amounting to only ₱33,599,102, whereas in 1920 the port registered ₱63,946,496 worth of goods exported. The foregoing figures, however, show that the balance of trade was in favor of the port for both years.

Only four of the articles imported into this port reached over a million pesos in value each, and they are follows: iron and steel and their manufactures, valued at ₱6,653,724 (₱7,274,726 in 1920); vehicles, including automobiles and their accessories, valued at ₱1,431,034 (₱436,388 in 1920); rice, valued at ₱1,125,718 (₱2,112,140 in 1920); and naphthas and all other lighter products of distillation, valued at ₱1,014,443 (₱165,487 in 1920). Other notable imports are kerosene oil, amounting in value to ₱860,925 against ₱876,121 in 1920; cotton goods, to ₱841,548, against ₱1,231,545 in 1920; and carabaos, to ₱641,380, against ₱714,489 in 1920.

The principal article exported from this port was sugar, amounting in value to ₱32,056,770. The cost of centrifugal sugar exported was ₱24,185,426, as compared with ₱19,637,578 exported during the previous year, while that of raw sugar was ₱7,871,344, which is far below the cost of that sent abroad in 1920, the latter having been valued at ₱44,157,634. Other notable exports from this port are copra, valued at ₱790,750, none having been exported therefrom in 1920; lumber and timber, valued at ₱651,657, compared with only ₱61,904 in 1920; and coconut oil, valued at ₱50,000, as compared with but ₱6,500 exported during the previous year.

During the year under consideration there were 146 entrances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, showing a total net tonnage of 387,101, and 144 clearances of similar vessels representing a total net tonnage of 385,422, as against 141 entrances of 307,713 net tons and 141 clearances of 310,866 net tons in 1920. In the coastwise trade there were 6,612 entrances and 6,648 clearances, with a total net tonnage of 515,628 and 519,830, respectively.

The total customs collections of this port amounted to ₱1,235,977.50, as compared with ₱1,014,661.43 collected in 1920, or an increase of 21.81 per cent. The increase is accounted for by the fact that more dutiable goods were imported into this port than during the previous year, resulting in increased collections of import duties. It is also due to the fact that while the value of sugar exported from this port was less than that sent abroad in 1920, the latter was exceeded in quantity by the former in more than 60,000 tons, resulting in increased collections of wharfage dues. Internal revenue collections have also increased from ₱141,305.68 in 1920 to ₱220,526.82 in 1921. The increase is due to increased importations of articles subject to internal revenue tax, such as mineral oils, playing cards, distilled spirits, etc.

PORT OF JOLO

The trade of Jolo during the year amounted to ₱1,292,950, as compared with ₱1,215,501 in 1920. The increase is due to the exports having exceeded in more than ₱100,000 those of the preceding year, the figures being ₱716,980 and ₱600,452, respectively. The comparative values of the articles imported into this port are ₱575,970 in 1921 and ₱615,049 in 1920. The foregoing figures show that in the year under review the balance of trade was in favor of this port, which is exceedingly gratifying in that with the exception of the year 1914 this is the only time that a favorable trade balance has been registered in this port.

Cotton cloths imported into this port during the year had the highest value among all other imported articles, having reached the amount of ₱304,819, as against ₱194,079 in 1920. Other goods imported were valued at less than ₱50,000 each.

The most notable among the articles exported was copra, the same having a value of ₱416,451, as compared with ₱136,865 in 1920. Exports of fish and fish products were also notable in that the value thereof reached the amount of ₱110,435, although less than that of similar exports in 1920 which was valued at ₱152,293. Exports of mother of pearl shells amounted to ₱98,017 in value, as compared with ₱87,382 in 1920, while those of green snail shells were valued at ₱26,045, against ₱43,360 in 1920. Other exports from this port during the year were insignificant, though there were sent abroad ₱12,938 worth of cordage and ₱12,070 worth of raw sugar, compared with ₱8,307 and ₱13,916, respectively, in 1920.

During the year under consideration there were 52 entrances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, with a total net tonnage of 30,215, and 50 clearances of similar vessels representing a total net tonnage of 29,630, as against 54 entrances of 27,367 net tons and 56 clearances of 28,157 net tons in 1920. The coastwise movement resulted in 95 entrances and 93 clearances, with a total net tonnage of 25,595 and 25,324, respectively.

The total customs collections of this port during the year amounted to ₱127,415.05 as against ₱123,185.07 in 1920, or an increase of 3.44 per cent. The increase is chiefly due to increased exportations resulting in increased collections of wharfage dues. It is also due to increased collections of duty on rice, there being a great difference in favor of 1921 between the amount of this cereal imported in that year and the amount imported in 1920. On the other hand, internal revenue taxes collected on imported articles decreased from ₱10,662.07 in 1920 to ₱10,149.60 in 1921 due to a reduction in the importations of articles subject to this tax.

PORT OF ZAMBOANGA

The trade of Zamboanga during the year amounted to ₱2,933,115, as compared with ₱3,256,197 in 1920, or a decrease of 10 per cent. The decrease is due to the reduction in the volume of imports, these having reached the amount of ₱1,302,573, as against ₱2,343,307 in 1920. The difference is so great that it more than offset the difference between the 1921 and 1920 exports, resulting in the decrease of the total trade. The exports for 1921 were valued at ₱1,630,542, whereas those for 1920 only amounted to ₱912,890. The balance of trade, unlike the previous year, was in favor of the port during the year under review.

The principal articles imported into this port are as follows: Kerosene oil, amounting in value to ₱433,198 (₱563,480 in 1920); cotton goods, to ₱216,701 (₱485,088 in 1920); naphthas and all other lighter products of distillation, to ₱163,434 (₱304,746 in 1920); iron and steel and manufactures thereof, to ₱68,021 (₱139,145 in 1920); meat products, to ₱49,400 (₱66,709 in 1920); wheat flour, to ₱35,815 (₱87,526 in 1920); and other articles of smaller values.

In the export trade this port recorded an exportation of ₱1,417,546 worth of copra, which is almost equal to the value of all the articles exported therefrom during the year. The value of the 1920 copra exports was only ₱245,981. Other exports are lumber and timber, valued at ₱76,544, compared with ₱127,285 in 1920; mother of pearl shells, valued at ₱12,274, compared with ₱8,476 in 1920; and other articles of insignificant values.

During the year under consideration there were 59 entrances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, with a total net tonnage of 131,790, and 58 clearances of similar vessels representing a total net tonnage of 131,760 as against 70 entrances of 119,437 net tons and 71 clearances of 120,300 net tons in 1920. In the coastwise trade there were 1,476 entrances and 1,476 clearances, with a total net tonnage of 157,135 and 158,260, respectively.

Customs collections at this port decreased from ₱139,268.10 in 1920 to ₱139,118.36. The decrease is chiefly due to the decreased collections in import duties, particularly on articles imported from Singapore, Borneo, and Australia, the reduction in the collections from this source being so great that it offset the increased collections in wharfage dues on the exportations of copra. Internal revenue collections also decreased due to decreased importations of articles subject to this tax.

BALABAC

The trade of Balabac amounted to ₱40,609, of which ₱23,984 represented the value of imports and ₱16,625 the value of exports the trade balance being against the port. Compared with 1920, when the trade amounted to ₱102,566, of which ₱62,754 were imports and ₱39,812 exports, the decrease in the total trade is 60 per cent.

Of the various articles imported into this port only cotton goods were of importance as to value which amounted to ₱16,764, as compared with ₱50,796 in 1920. The other articles imported are of insignificant value.

Of the domestic goods exported, gum copal had the greatest value, amounting to ₱9,751, as compared with ₱29,602 in 1920. Other notable exports are shells, amounting in value to ₱3,038 (₱6,505 in 1920); ambergris, to ₱2,000 (none in 1920), and fish and fish products, to ₱1,122 (₱1,437 in 1920).

During the year under consideration there were 10 entrances of vessels engaged in the foreign trade, with a total net tonnage of 151, and 11 clearances of similar vessels representing a total net tonnage of 161, as against 14 entrances and 13 clearances in 1920, showing a total net tonnage of 251 and 209 respectively. In the coastwise trade there were 34 entrances of 2,965 net tons and 33 clearances of 2,920 net tons.

Due to the decrease in the trade of this port, customs collections decreased from ₱6,131.83 in 1920 to ₱4,175.34 in 1921. For the same reason, internal revenue collections decreased from ₱179.29 in 1920 to ₱157.85 in 1921.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations heretofore made are hereby reiterated:

1. The revival of the Coast Guard Service which was established in 1901 and discontinued in April, 1918. This recommendation is of utmost importance in that it will provide the service with adequate means to protect the customs revenue, the assistance of vessels in distress, the enforcement of the navigation and immigration laws, and the suppression of illegal traffic in firearms and ammunition and of prohibited merchandise.

2. The return to the Philippine Government by the British North Borneo Company of the Island of Baguan situated in latitude 6°-06'-20'' N., longitude 118°-27'-30'' E., and is one mile in length from north to south and one-half mile in breadth from east to west. It is understood that this island was ceded to the British North Borneo Company for temporary administration only. The use of this island as a vantage point and as a base of operation of customs cutters and launches for the suppression of illegal traffic of opium indulged in by the Moros, as well as the clandestine entrance of undesirable aliens into the southern islands in violation of the immigration laws, is paramount.

3. The early completion of Pier 7 with a view to increasing the premises of the customs service for the handling of merchandise. Also, the construction of a pier road for the convenience of passengers and tourists visiting this port, and the remodelling of Piers 3 and 5 to bring them up to the standard of modern piers.

4. The closing of the entrance gap between the two breakwaters in the Manila Harbor and the dredging of the south end of south breakwater to a depth of at least thirty-five feet at mean low tide, the same to be the new entrance to the harbor.

In addition to the above, the following recommendations are hereby made with a view to improving the customs service in the other ports of entry in the Islands:

CEBU

It is recommended that the north berthing sea wall be completed and that the south berthing sea wall be dredged. Large vessels enter this port direct from foreign countries, and it would lead the foreign commerce of the port to a greater development if adequate docking facilities were offered to such vessels.

ILOILO

It is recommended that a dredger be detailed at Iloilo to dredge the first stretch of the Iloilo River to a depth of thirty feet. Enormous sums are being expended in the matter of loading sugar on foreign vessels, as the cargo must be loaded on scows and towed to the outer harbor for the reason that the said vessels are unable to enter into the river and load direct at the piers.

In view of the announced intention on the part of the Philippine Sugar Centrals Agency to dispatch vessels to Pulupandan and Talisay, Negros, for the loading of sugar from their centrals, it is recommended that beacons be installed at the above mentioned places for the accommodation of shipmasters and pilots. It is also recommended that the black buoys now installed on the northern part of Refugio Island in the port of San Carlos, marking the northern entrance to that port, be substituted for a larger buoy with light so as to enable ships going to San Carlos to enter and clear at night time. According to information received from shipmasters, it has been found necessary for them to rig their own lights at that places so as to avoid the delay in clearing from San Carlos.

JOLO

Attention is invited to the fact that the building and lot now occupied by the Jolo Custom House belong to the Province of Sulu. The provincial board of that province passed on on the latter part of 1920 a resolution transferring the ownership of this property to the Bureau of Customs on condition that the cost thereof be reimbursed to that province. The proposition did not then receive the approval of the Secretary, although he expressed a desire to have the acquisition of said property effected on a later date. I deem it essential at this time to recommend the purchase of this building and lot in order that the customs authorities may exercise complete control over the premises, thereby facilitating proper enforcement of customs laws and regulations and obviating possible conflict with provincial authorities.

It is also recommended that the Jolo Wharf, which is now in a dilapidated condition, be repaired, and that each end of the same be extended to a length of one hundred and fifty feet. The present wharf can accommodate only one boat at a time, and it will therefore be seen that the delay a vessel has necessarily to undergo when another vessel is docked at the wharf is highly disastrous to the commerce of the port.

ZAMBOANGA

It is recommended that the dock at Zamboanga be extended on each end to a length of one hundred feet. This recommendation is made for the reason expressed in the case of the wharf at Jolo.

CONCLUSION

Complete information and details concerning customs transactions and all articles of commerce will be found in the appended statistical tables.

Respectfully submitted.

Insular Collector of Customs.

The Honorable,
The SECRETARY OF FINANCE,
Manila, P. I.
